NOTABLE ADDRESS MADE BY N. E. HARRIS, OF MACON

Feature of Session Was Singing of "Dixie" by New Orleans Beauty, Which Stampeded the Veterans to the Crescent City.

Commander Trans-Mississippi Department—General L. W. Cabell, Texas.

Commander Army of Tennessee Department—Lieutenant General Clement A. Evans, Georgia.

Commander Army of Northern Virginia Department—C. Irving Walker, South Carolina.

The nominations were made by acclamation, although there was an attempt to defeat the reelection of General Cabell. Post No. 72 of Texas entered a protest to the reelection of General Cabell, saying that he was not the unanimous choice of the Texas delegation; but the protestor was hooted down and three cheers given for "Old Tige" Cabell, while the secretary recorded the election of the old Texan.

New Orleans Won Easily.

New Orleans had slight difficulty in securing the convention of 1906. There was very little speechmaking and little in the way of song, but what was given the delegates along these lines was most excellent, the singing of Miss Monie Blanchard going straight to the hearts of the veterans. Nashville made a fight which was a surprise to the convention, but the sentiment was strongly in favor of the Crescent City.

The day was a strenuous one for General Lee and Adjutant General Mickle. Two sessions were held, and much business transacted. At noon the business of the convention, which began at 9:30 a. m., was suspended and an hour was devoted to the customary memorial services in honor of the distinguished dead of the year. The speakers at the memorial services were Dr. Powell, of Louisville, and Dr. Lansing Burrows, of Nashville.

The annual address to the veterans was delivered by Captain N. E. Harris, of Macon, Ga. Captain Harris is a forceful speaker, his address was excellent, and for more than two hours he held the large audience closely. At the conclusion of his address Captain Harris was given an ovation.

Federal Officer on Committee.

During the progress of the business of the day it was discovered that the name of a federal officer was on the committee on resolutions. This caused a commotion among the delegates. The officer in question was Colonel S. C. Russell, of Indian Territory. Colonel Russell did not attend the convention, and on the protest of a Texas member of the committee, General Lee substituted the name of J. J. Kendall, of Indian Territory, for Colonel Russell.

Fraternal greetings were read from the state encampment of Grand Army of the Republic of Indiana, in session at Madison. The greetings were only moderately cheered, and one delegate on the platform with the remark that there "is getting to be too much of this fraternalizing," took his hat and departed.

Other interesting reports submitted during the day were those of the history committee and the battle Abbey committee. The history committee reported gratifying progress in the matter of securing accurate histories for use in the southern schools.

The Battle Abbey is now assured. It will be built in Richmond, but the exact site in that city has not yet been decided. The suit for $16,000 commission claimed by John C. Underwood for collecting funds for this project, is still in the courts, but the committee has received assurances that $50,000 more can be collected if it is needed.

The report of the Davis Monument Association says that $69,000 is now in a bank drawing interest, and the monument to the dead chieftain is therefore assured. The reading of the report caused prolonged cheering.

Ovation for Miss Lumpkin.

South Carolina's sponsor, Miss Elizabeth Lumpkin, was given an ovation by the old men in gray at the conclusion of a remarkable address of greetings. This young woman possesses a splendid voice, and she swayed her audience alternately to tears and cheers. Her efforts, however, were too much for her strength and she is tonight so much indisposed that she will be unable to sing at the reception committee at the Galt house in honor of Miss Carrie Wheeler, the daughter of General Wheeler and sponsor for the south.

The spectacular feature of the reunion—the parade of the remnants of the south's once great army—will take place tomorrow. The veterans have had a good rest during the past twenty-four hours, and it is expected that the number of men in line will exceed that of any recent reunion. The line of march will cover a distance of nearly 3 miles.

A conservative estimate of the number of veterans and visitors in town, based on figures given by railroad men of experience, places the attendance at the reunion at or near the 40,000 mark. Tomorrow's parade is expected to attract many thousands from nearby points. The

BIG SCANDAL WILL RESULT FROM STRIKE

Startling Evidence Given Grand Jury About Labor Leaders and Business Men.

CHARGE OF BRIBERY CALLED INSIGNIFICANT

Beside the New Accusations—State's Attorney Says That the Greatest Scandal Chicago Has Ever Known Will Follow.

Chicago, June 15.—The greatest scandal Chicago has ever seen, according to State's Attorney Healy, is to follow the disclosures made today before the grand jury by John C. Driscoll, when the former secretary of the Associated Building Trades and Coal Team Owners' Association, revealed the entire history of the dealings between employers and union labor leaders, particularly that branch of union labor represented by the Chicago Teamsters' Union.

State's Attorney Healy declared that the bribery and conspiracy charges dropped into comparative insignificance beside the accusations which have been brought to the attention of the grand jury. The state's attorney said:

"More serious offenses have been committed than bribery and conspiracy, and the evidence presented to the jury has been of an extremely sensational character. It is very important and will lead to startling results. The names mentioned by the witnesses are those of prominent men on both sides. If I thought there would be no results from their investigation, I would call a halt immediately. I believe the present line of inquiry will occupy the attention of the jury for the remainder of this week, and a portion of next week, but, if necessary, all the docketed cases will be sidetracked because of the great importance I attach to the results of the present inquiry."

Business Men Called.

Tomorrow will witness the gathering before the grand jury of twenty or more of the prominent business men of Chicago, together with leading members of the bar. Subpenas for them have been placed tonight in the hands of private detectives employed by the state's attorney, and it is impossible tonight to learn the names of those for whom subpenas have been issued. Charges, however, of a serious kind are said to figure in the evidence, in connection with which these men have been summoned.

John C. Driscoll was made today the chief witness before the grand jury and recited what he called the history of the dealings between employers and union labor. Driscoll told how the coal teamsters and coal team owners had made the first joint trade agreement, which provided that the owners should employ only members of the coal teamsters' union, and that the members of the union should work for no employer not a member of the coal team owners' association. The effect of this arrangement, the witness declared, was to force every coal wagon owner into the coal team owners' association and every coal wagon driver into the teamsters' union. The owners behind this provision that barred union men from working for men not members of the association and prevented union drivers from driving independent coal wagons, raised the cartage rates of coal from 30 to 50 cents a ton for short hauls and to as high as $1 a ton for longer hauls.

Showed Canceled Checks.

Driscoll took before the jury today several check books, which, together with the cancelled checks, are expected to prove many of the charges made by him against business men and labor leaders.

It was evident by the appearance of the state's attorney and members of the jury at the time of adjournment that Driscoll had given some very remarkable testimony.

State's Attorney Healy and his assistant, Mr. Fake, and several members of the jury were highly agitated and they admitted passively that evidence of the gravest importance had been given, but everybody was sworn to secrecy.

Driscoll was also much agitated as he left the criminal court building late this afternoon. He refused, however, to discuss the nature of his testimony, merely saying:

"I told the jury about strikes in which I have been involved for several years, and also told what I knew about the present strike. That is all I can say now."

Paid Shea $8,000.

It was learned late tonight that one of the statements made by Driscoll to the jury was that Presiden Shea, of the teamsters' union, accepted $8,000 at the time of the stock yards strike last summer.

This strike began July 12 and lasted nine weeks. About 26,000 men were thrown out of work and millions of dollars were lost by the packers in business and by the men in wages. According to Driscoll, he went to Shea to see if the teamsters could not be prevented from going out on a sympathetic strike. Shea is said by Driscoll to have replied: "It will cost you $8,000 to keep them at work."

Driscoll declared that he raised the money and paid it to Shea, and that the labor leader was not able to prevent the men from walking out. Driscoll afterwards, according to his story, demanded the return of this money and Shea declared that he had paid it over to two other men connected with the teamsters' union.

SWEDISH PRINCE AND BRITISH PRINCESS WEDDED IN CHAPEL OF WINDSOR CASTLE

WINDSOR, ENGLAND, June 15.—Windsor, the scene of many historic events, particularly during the reign of the late Queen Victoria, was in holiday attire today for the wedding of Princess Margaret, of Conneaught, elderst daughter of the duke of Conneaught, to Prince Gustavus Adolphus, eldest son of Crown Prince Gustavus, of Sweden, all the arrangements for which were made under the personal direction of King Edward. Throughout the morning, royal trains proceeded from London to Windsor, bearing representatives of most of the royal families of Europe, and forming one of the most imposing gatherings since the king's coronation.

Magnificent summer weather greeted the young couple and showed the pretty town of Windsor at its best. The scene in St. George chapel was exceedingly brilliant. Shortly after the guests were seated, the bridegroom made his appearance, accompanied by his supporters, Prince Eugene and Prince William, of Sweden, with the gentlemen in attendance.

The bridegroom was followed by the royal party, including King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Princess Victoria, the crown prince and crown princess of Sweden, the duchess of Conneaught, the prince of Wales, the landgrave of Hesse, grand duke and grand duchess of Baden and the khedive of Egypt, all accompanied by brilliant suites.

As Elgar's "Imperial March" was played on the organ, the bride on the arm of her father passed from the castle to the chapel. She was met at the entrance by the lord chamberlain and the bridesmaids. The party passed up the aisle, preceded by the choir singing "When the God of Old," to the chancel, where, a quarter of a century ago, the bride's mother and father went through the same ceremony. The archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the bishop of Oxford, and others, read the simple service of the Church of England.

The wedding dress was a cloud of pure white Irish lace, over white satin, and strewn with garlands of orange blossoms and myrtles. The corsage was cut low, and there was the regulation court train. The bride carried a simple bouquet, consisting of a wreath of Madonna lilies tied with white satin, the effect being both simple and natural. After the ceremony the members of the royal families returned to the castle, where luncheon was served.

The wedding cake, which formed the centerpiece of the table, was 5 feet in height, consisting of three tiers, the lower tier being 3 feet in diameter. Overhanging each tier were four balconies, beneath which there were figures modeled in sugar, bearing wheat, the symbol of plenty. The tiers were borne by four silver Grecian columns, and on the top of the cake was a draped female figure, supporting a porcelain vase, from which hung garlands of natural flowers.

BOWDENS STRUCK BY TROLLEY CAR

Two Georgians Injured at the Louisville Reunion.

Injured Men Are Brothers, One Being from Atlanta and the Other from Clayton County—One of Them Is Blind.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—W. T. and J. M. Bowden, brothers, one of them living in Atlanta and the other from Clayton county, Georgia, were run down by a Second street car near Green late today and injured.

J. M. Bowden, the younger of the brothers, who is blind as a result of wounds received in the war, was being led across the corner by W. T. Bowden. When they were crossing the tracks a car approached and the motorman sounded his gong. The elder brother, who had been devoting all his attention to the blind man, looked up and became bewildered. The blind man was struck and thrown from the tracks in one direction and his brother in another. The front of the car inflicted a deep gash in the blind man's forehead, while W. T. Bowden sustained a broken arm. Both were removed to the city hospital.

Paper and Bank Designated.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The First national bank, of Albany, was made a depository for the bankruptcy fund of the federal court in that place by Judge Speer here today. The Albany Herald was also made the official advertising organ of the federal court.

MANAGED MISS ROOSEVELT SO AS TO ANGER "BOSS" COX

NEW YORK, June 15.—(Special.)—In the current issue of Town Topics, printed today, it is said anent Miss Alice Roosevelt's visit to Cincinnati:

"Nick Longworth will have to do some explaining to his political master, George B. Cox, as to why something real recherche was not done with Mrs. Cox in the center of the state. For if there are two things Cox never lets up on it is punishing those who neglect to pay deference to Mrs. Cox, and trying to do something for his political enemies. Ancestral history cuts no figure if Mrs. Cox happens to covet some honor. Whether Nick was afraid of offending his Cincinnati friends by recognizing the Coxes, or whether the president, previously posted, had specially cited the Ohio boss' household as blue penciled in his daughter's society functions, is a matter of conjecture. The fact is the Coxes met Miss Roosevelt at Latonia and there is where Longworth refrained from having them meet his sister at the same time. The guests at all the other functions were the creme-de-la-creme of Cincinnati society. But Cox will not exact an explanation from Longworth right away. It is on the shelf, with the mental label on it, that Mrs. Cox herself wished to extend some hospitality to Miss Roosevelt, simply because Miss Roosevelt's father is the biggest republican in the United States and Mrs. Coxe's husband is the biggest in the big state of Ohio. When the right time comes, George B. will swish that under Nick's nose and the right time will be when Nick wants something nobody can give him, or do for him but Cox."

SWARMING BABIES CHOKED ST. LOUIS UNION STATION

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—Sixty-one infants, former inmates of the New York Foundling asylum, thronged union station and congested traffic for a time keeping a corps of nurses busy. One baby, Joseph Brown, aged 3 years, fell from a car window just before reaching St. Louis and was instantly killed. At union station five babies succeeded in crawling under waiting trains, but were rescued from their perilous positions. The infants are being taken to Texas, where they will be distributed into homes for adoption.

Conducting a Revival.

Columbus, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Rev. Tleo Copeland, the popular pastor of St. Luke Methodist church, of this city, is conducting a revival meeting at Bessemer, Ala., this week. He was formerly a pastor in Birmingham. Rev. Mr. Copeland recently concluded a successful meeting at his own church in this city. St. Luke church now has a membership of about 1,000, and is in a flourishing condition.

Reunion of Ashby's Brigade.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—Ashby's brigade, composed of four regiments of Tennessee cavalry, held its annual reunion today. About seventy-five members of the famous organization were present. J. P. Coffin, of Batesville, Ark., presided. He has been reelected to the position at the head of the organization several times and at the last reunion he was asked to serve for life.

WASHINGTON IS CHOSEN FOR PEACE CONFERENCE BY RUSSIA AND JAPAN

Official Announcement of the Selection of Capital of United States Is Made.

JAPAN REFUSED TO GO TO EUROPEAN CAPITAL

And Russia Refused To Go to the Far East, So Washington Was Selected as a Compromise—Kuropatkin May Represent Russia.

Washington, June 15.—America's national capital has been selected as the seat of negotiations between the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan for a treaty of peace. The choice of Washington as the location of the peace conference marks another forward step in the negotiations toward ultimate peace in the Far East instituted by President Roosevelt.

Official announcement of the selection of Washington was made by Secretary Loeb at the white house at 1:30 o'clock tody. It was in typewritten form and read as follows:

"When the two governments were unable to agree upon either Chefoo or Paris, the president suggested The Hague, but both governments have now requested that Washington be chosen as the place of meeting and the president has accordingly formally notified both governments that Washington will be so selected."

This statement was supplemented shortly afterwards by a semi-official announcement that "after meeting and organizing, the plenipotentiaries of the two governments, if it should be found to be uncomfortably hot in Washington, may adjourn the meeting to some summer resort in the north and there continue their sitting until such time as the weather in Washington shall be more comfortable."

Only Logical Solution.

Now that some of the details of the negotiations, which have been pending for more than two weeks, are known, the selection of Washington is regarded as the only logical solution of the problem presented to the belligerent governments. After the acceptance by Russia and Japan of President Roosevelt's proposition that they consent to the discussion of

He Paid $2,500,000 for Equitable Shares and Owns Them Absolutely.

CLEVELAND'S APPEAL TO THE POLICY HOLDERS

Former President Issues Letter Explaining Trust Agreement and Urging the Policy Holders To Take Part in Choosing Directors.

New York, June 15.—Grover Cleveland, Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, of the state supreme court, and George Westinghouse, of Pittsburg, trustees of the Equitable Life Assurance Society stock formerly owned by James H. Hyde, met at the Hotel Buckingham, in this city, today. At the afternoon session, after a conference with Elihu Root and Paul Gravath, Thomas E. Ryan was sent for, and a trust agreement was executed. Mr. Cleveland was elected chairman, and George Parker secretary.

At the conclusion of the meeting tonight the trust agreement with a letter from Mr. Ryan to the trustees and an appeal from Mr. Cleveland to the policy holders were made public.

Ryan's Letter.

Mr. Ryan's letter announces his individual ownership of the stock, and addressing the trustees says:

"Dear Sirs—In order that every possible basis for mystery may be eliminated, I am anxious that you should be fully apprised of every circumstance regarding my purchase of a majority (502 shares) of the capital stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. I am, therefore, writing this letter to place before you the only facts regarding the transaction which have not been made public.

"(1). I am the sole owner of the 502 shares of the stock of the Equitable Society, which I purchased from Mr. Hyde, and no other person or interest has contributed or has the right to contribute a single dollar towards the purchase of the stock. The policy holders with whom I conferred in making the purchase have had no connection with the management of the Equitable Society, and their connection with the transaction was entirely advisory. I am under no obligation to any living man with respect to my action as the owner of this stock.

"(2). The amount which I paid for the 502 shares of stock purchased from Mr. Hyde is $2,500,000.

"You are at liberty to make this letter public if you so desire. Very truly yours, THOMAS F. RYAN."

Cleveland to Policy Holders.

The appeal of Mr. Cleveland to the policy holders is dated in advance, and will be mailed to the six hundred thousand holders of Equitable insurance. The letter follows:

"New York, June 16, 1905.—To the Policy Holders in the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States: We the undersigned, have assumed the duties created by a trust agreement executed by Thomas F. Ryan, whereby a majority of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society has been placed in our hands as trustees for the purpose of voting on such stock for directors of said society.

"It is provided in the instrument transferring the stock to us that we shall vote seven out of the thirteen directors to be chosen annually from the holders of policies of insurance in said society, and that these shall be designated by an expression of their choice on the part of the body of all the policy holders whose policies have been in force at least one year. The selection of the six remaining directors to be elected each year is left to our discretion and judgment as trustees. This plan will result in finally giving to policy holders the privilege of choosing twenty-eight of the fifty-two persons who will constitute the board of directors.

Let Policy Holders Speak.

"It is also provided by said instrument of transfer, as a means of informing us of the choice which the policy holders may make of the directors allotted to their selection, that said policy holders shall express their wishes to us on this subject by sending to our address annually, before the first day of November, at the office of the Equitable society, No. 120 Broadway, New York, a written designation of the policy holders they desire to have elected as directors.

"We especially request all policy holders entitled to exercise this privilege that they make their wishes known to us within the time and manner mentioned. In order that the plan inaugurated for their policy holding directorship may speedily reach the numerical proportion of the entire board, which is contemplated, we have determined at an early date to recommend policy holders to be elected by the board to fill existing vacancies. We therefore urge policy holders to notify us at once of their preferences in regard to these vacancies.

"The trustees hope they will receive a very general response to this invitation.

"GROVER CLEVELAND, "Chairman.
"MORGAN J. O'BRIEN,
"GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE,
"Trustees."

What Agreement Stipulates.

The agreement between Mr. Ryan and the trustees practically outlines the authority of the trustees in voting the stock and gives them full control over the 502 shares they represent. The agreement recites that whereas the directors have

OWEN IS CHOSEN CHIEF BY SONS

Montgomery Man Succeeds Tisdale as Commander.

Williams and Lamar Speak for the Georgia Division of Sons in Regard to Lack of Interest. Retiring Commander Delivers a Lecture.

Louisville, June 15.—The United Sons of Confederate Veterans today elected the following officers:

Thomas M. Owen, of Montgomery, Ala., commander-in-chief.

Will T. Sheehan, of Montgomery, Ala., was chosen adjutant general and chief of staff by Commander Owen.

A majority of the camps of the organization are in arrears for dues and the question of their suspension was called up, but no action taken. Certain camps in the Indian Territory agreed to pay their dues before leaving the city.

John H. Dewitt, of Nashville, offered a resolution that the support of the sons be pledged to the "Confederate Veteran" in view of the great value of that periodical to southern interests and history. The motion was unanimously carried.

Surgeons of the Confederacy.

President, Dr. Charles H. Todd, Owensboro, Ky.

First vice president, Dr. C. A. Brock, of Virginia.

Second vice president, Dr. J. M. Frye, Texas.

Third vice president, Dr. J. C. Stegor, Gurely, Ala.

Secretary and treasurer, Dr. J. Deering Roberts, Nashville, Tenn.

A heated discussion took place over the official button adopted on the recommendation of Dr. J. D. Plunket, of Nashville, chairman of a special committee appointed to design and prepare a button. Dr. J. M. Keller, who was on the executive committee last year which recommended the adoption of a gold star, said that Dr. Plunket had easily exceeded his authority and asked that the button, which was distributed yesterday, be repudiated. The button adopted is of bronze from the cannon surrendered at Richmond.

Dr. J. B. Cowan, of Tullahoma, Tenn., moved that in order to avoid an absence of harmony in the association the president appoint a committee of two to consider the matter and report at the meeting next year. The motion was carried.

Dr. C. H. Tebault, of New Orleans, surgeon general of the confederacy, read a paper on "The Treatment of President Jefferson Davis as a Federal Prisoner." Dr. Tebault raked General Nelson A. Miles fore and aft for his treatment of President Davis, and described at length the "inhuman act" of placing the manacles on the hands and arms of the president of the confederacy.

Confederate Memorial Association.

The Confederate Southern Memorial Association, which has a membership in the thirteen confederate states, met today and heard numerous reports and many addresses of welcome. Mrs. J. W. J. Behan, of New Orleans, president of the association, responded to the words of welcome. Miss Mary Ashe Hall, of Atlanta, historian of the association, reported the organization in a flourishing condition, and memorial work going on all over the country wherever southern soldiers are buried.

SENATORS AFTER M'MAKIN

John McMakin, who was released yesterday morning by the Atlanta club on account of the necessity of cutting down the staff, is negotiating with the Montgomery team and may land a berth on that team. Montgomery is in need of pitchers and with good hitting behind him, such as Montgomery can easily give, John ought to make them a good man.

Several independent teams in Georgia are anxious to get his services for summer baseball.

General Stewart Is Better.

Chatanooga, Tenn., June 15.—General A. P. Stewart, ranking officer of the United Confederate Veterans, is much improved and is now able to sit up for the first time in several days. He will soon be restored to his normal health.

THOMAS RYAN SOLE OWNER

adopted a plan for the mutualization of the society, twenty-eight should be elected by the policy holders and twenty-four by the stockholders. Mr. Ryan agrees that the existing certificates for the 502 shares of stock shall be canceled and certificates therefor shall be issued to the trustees according to the terms of the agreement.

The document stipulates that the trustees "are exclusively authorized to exercise the voting power on the stock held under the agreement for the election of directors of the society, to so vote on said stock that out of every thirteen persons for whom such vote shall be cast, seven shall be policy holders of the society, selected in accordance with the wishes of the policy holders of the society, and the remaining six directors shall be selected by the trustees in their uncontrolled discretion, to the end that of the entire fifty-two directors, twenty-eight shall be policy holders of the society, selected by or on behalf of the policy holders and twenty-four shall be lawfully eligible persons selected by the trustees in their sole discretion.

Wishes of Policy Holders.

"The wishes of the policy holders in respect of the directors to be voted for by the trustees shall be expressed in the following manner:

"In each year, at any time prior to the first day of November any holder of any policy which shall have been in force for one year or more, may send to the trustees at the Equitable building, No. 120 Broadway, New York city, a written request, designating seven-thirteenths of the number of directors to be elected at the next ensuing annual election of directors, for whose election as directors, such policy holder desires the trustees to vote at such annual election, or requesting the trustees to exercise their discretion on his behalf in the selection of policy holders to act as such directors.

"Third. The trustees are authorized, in respect of said stock to take, in their discretion, by vote thereon, or otherwise, any action necessary to properly effect the consummation of said plan for the mutualization of the society, by securing to the policy holders the right to elect directly the 28 of the 52 directors of the society, or a like proportion of the entire number of directors of which the directors shall from time to time consist.

"Fourth. In case said plan of mutualization shall become operative and the policy holders shall become entitled to vote directly for twenty-eight directors, or a like proportion of any other number of which the board of directors may from time to time consist, then the trustees, in respect of the stock held under this agreement, shall continue to vote for such lawfully eligible persons to be the remaining directors as they shall, in their uncontrolled discretion, select.

"The trustees are authorized to make recommendations to the directors for filling vacancies to the end that the purposes of the agreement may be promptly accomplished, and the agreement states that no vote shall be cast by the trustees upon the stock, except by their unanimous approval, but the trustees may empower any one of their number to cast their vote. It is provided that vacancies on the board of trustees made by death or resignation shall be filled by an appointment made in writing by the remaining trustees."

Entitled to Dividends.

The agreement then says:

"The party of the first part shall be entitled to the dividends on the stock deposited by him under this agreement.

"This agreement shall continue in force for the full period authorized by section 2 of the general corporation law of the state of New York, viz: Five (5) years from the date hereof, it shall be continued hereafter so long as the trustees shall deem advisable, and the party of the first part hereby agrees that, upon the expiration of any period of five (5) years, he will, upon the request of the trustees, execute an instrument continuing for a further period of five (5) years, this agreement and the powers of the trustees hereunder, including said power to require an extension hereof. WAVERLY PLACE TO REMAIN OPEN

Supreme Court Sustains Suit to Prevent Shifting of It.

City Must Apply to General Assembly for Permission To Change Location of Street in Order To Allow the Erection of L. & N. Terminals.

Authority to shift the location of Waverly place in order to make room for the terminal stations of the Louisville and Nashville and other railroads is denied the city under a unanimous decision of the supreme court, which was handed down yesterday morning.

This is the case of F. M. Coker and Dr. W. S. Kendrick against the city authorities, and was brought to prevent the shifting of Waverly place from its present site to a point 26 feet south. The decision declares that authority "to open, lay out, to widen, straighten, or otherwise change" streets, which is given in the charter of Atlanta, does not embrace the power to absolutely change the location of a street, even though it be for a distance of only 26 feet.

Another interesting principle is enunciated in the decision of yesterday. The decision declares that although an obstruction in a street or the erection of permanent structures upon it may constitute a nuisance to the public, only those who have a special injury, not shared in by the general public, can maintain an equitable proceeding to enjoin against the creation of the nuisance.

The decision handed down by the supreme court was not signed by Justice J. H. Lumpkin, for the reason that he had tried the case in the superior court of Fulton county, and had given the decision to the city. The supreme court, therefore, on yesterday reversed the decision of one of its associate justices.

The decision means that the city must apply during the approaching session of the general assembly for permission to change the location of Waverly place, and this means that there will be a fight regarding the matter before the house committee, as the request of the city will doubtless meet with opposition.

Head Notes of Decision.

The headnotes of the decision handed down yesterday is as follows:

"1. A municipal corporation is without power to vacate a public thoroughfare unless authority so to be conferred upon it in express terms or by necessary implication.

"(a) The charter of the city of Atlanta clothes it with no such power.

"(b) Authority 'to open, lay out, to widen, straighten, or otherwise change' streets within the city does not comprehend the power to abandon a thoroughfare and open another to take its place over a strip of land running parallel with, but some twenty-six feet distant from the nearest boundary line of the street sought to be vacated and devoted to a purpose inconsistent with its use by the public.

"2. Though the unauthorized obstruction of a city street by the laying of railway tracks and the erection of permanent structures thereon may, as a matter of law, amount to a public nuisance, none save persons who will thereby sustain injury not shared in by the public at large can maintain an equitable proceeding to enjoin the creation of such nuisance.

"3. One whose property rights will be injuriously affected by the unauthorized abandonment and obstruction of a street which furnishes an important avenue of approach to his place of business, in that the closing of the street will divert travel from the thoroughfare on which his property is situated and render the same less valuable and remunerative to him, can maintain an action to prevent the infliction of such special injury.

"4. That great benefits will flow to a city from the carrying out of ultra vires contract made in its behalf affords no reason for denying appropriate equitable relief to a citizen who attacks the contract as illegal and whose rights will be infringed if its terms are given effect.

"No Merit for Defense."

"5. There is no merit in the defense that a property owner will not sustain damages from the unlawful closing of a street, for the reason that another street to take its place will be immediately opened, unless it be shown that the street opened will be permanently maintained.

"(a) Evidence that the street to be substituted for that closed will afford better access to the complainant's property and will render it more valuable is not open to the objection that benefits thus arising cannot be set off against the damages which he would sutain from the unauthorized abandonment and obstruction of the street to the closing of which he objects.

"(b) After an ultra vires contract wherein a municipality is named as a party is wholly or partially performed by the other contracting party, a court of equity cannot undertake to enjoin the city authorities from restoring to that majority such fruits of the unauthorized contract as have not been dissipated, but remain in the custory of the municipality.

"6. Even though a citizen may be his conduct induce the authorities of a city to believe that he will not question the validity of an ordinance providing for the vacation of a public thoroughfare, he will not be estopped from attacking the ordinances at any time before definite action is taken thereunder by the parties interested in giving it effect."

John L. Hopkins & Sons represented F. M. Coker and Dr. W. S. Kendrick, the plaintiffs, and the defendants were represented by King, Spalding & Little, City Attorney James L. Mayson and Assistant City Attorney W. P. Hill.

NEWS IN BRIEF

THE BODY OF ROBERT M. CLARKE, who died in Phoenix, Arizona, last Sunday will be brought to Atlanta next Sunday for funeral services and interment. The news of Mr. Clarke's death has been the cause of much sorrow among his many friends in this city. He was the brother of George A. Clarke, J. Brooks Clarke, Eugene Clarke, Paul J. Clarke and Mrs. Ben Hightower, all of this city. Mr. Clarke was studying for the ministry at the time of his death. Funeral arrangements will not be announced until after the arrival of the body.

AFTER AN ILLNESS OF ONLY A few days, Clyde H. Dunbar, of 400 Rawson street, died yesterday morning shortly before noon, at the Grady hospital, of appendicitis. He was only 17 years of age, and was a machinist. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

THE BODY OF MRS. SARAH A. Jones, the aged woman who died Wednesday evening at the King's Daughters' hospital, will be taken to Ellenwood, Ga., this morning, for funeral services and interment.

O'Kelly, the two confederate veterans, who died Wednesday, at the Soldiers' Home, will be laid to rest this morning at Westview cemetery, after joint funeral services are conducted at 10 o'clock, from the chapel of Barclay & Branron. Rev. A. R. Holderby will officiate. Two hearses will head the funeral procession. Captain Langdon Howie, superintendent of the Soldiers' Home, is desirous that all confederate veterans in the city, attend the funeral services. The mission of the few confederate veterans in the city, who are not in attendance upon the reunion in Louisville, will be a sad one indeed, tomorrow morning, when they bear the bodies of their two dead comrades to the graves, while their heroic comrades, who survived the great conflict, are in the midst of the festivities of the reunion.

MRS. OLLIE BRIDWELL WAS LAID to rest in Oakland cemetery yesterday morning, after funeral services had been conducted at 10 o'clock from the family residence, at 18 Markham street.

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. REBECCA A. Sims, who died Wednesday night at her home, 274 East Cain street, was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Jackson Hill Baptist church. A "NOT GUILTY" VERDICT WAS frequent during the session of the Fulton superior court, criminal branch, yesterday, defendant after defendant being given his liberty by the jury within a short time after retiring. Alex Johnson, charged with burglary, however, was not one of the lucky group. It was a verdict against Johnson, and upon the verdict he was given five years in the state penitentiary. Fred Ellington, arraigned for assault with intent to murder, found seven years of his life crossed out after hearing the jury say that he was guilty of the charge contained in the indictment.

JOHN WATTERS, AN ATLANTAN, for many years a member of the Atlanta fire department and foreman of Company No. 2, but for a few years past chief of the Jackson, Miss., fire department, was badly injured in a fire in that city a few days ago. Chief Watters was standing on a platform which gave way, precipitating him to the ground. In the fall an arm was broken, but without asking for the service of a surgeon he continued at his post until the conflagration was extinguished. Chief Watters has made a decided reputation for Jackson's fire department since he assumed control of the working force.

THE SOUTHERN AUTOMOBILE Company was yesterday granted a charter, so far as application to the courts go. The incorporators are C. L. Chosewood and L. E. Fain, both of Fulton county. The life of the organization is twenty years, while the capital stock is $10,000 with the right to increase.

THE CASE OF THE GEORGIA INdustrial Company, a native organization, against the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society, a New York corporation, a case which has been pending for months in the local courts, reached at least a temporary conclusion, in the Fulton superior court, Judge Pendleton presiding. The Provident Savings Life Assurance Society has been temporarily enjoined from selling some landed property in Hancock county because of a note calling for $40,000, in round figures. The case has been long drawn out and strenuously fought in the state courts, Walter McElreath appearing for the Georgia Industrial Company. An end to the litigation, at least for the present, was reached when Judge Pendleton made permanent the injunction against the Provident society, granted on April 7 last by Judge Lumpkin, then of the superior court of Fulton county.

THE COUNCIL COMMITTEE ON manufacturers, statistics, freight rates and transportation decided yesterday morning to report adversely on petitions for negro skating rinks at 200 Houston street and 46 Courtland street.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH WILL hold its regular monthly meeting this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Only routine business is scheduled for the meeting.

BARNES LODGE, NO. 55, INDEpendent Order of Odd Fellows, will hold an important meeting tonight, and Grand Master W. H. Barnes will be present. The third degree will be conferred and the meeting will be an interesting and enthusiastic one. Grand Master Barnes is one o fthe best known Odd Fellows in the south and his presence will attract a large attendance.

WHILE WALKING ACROSS THE Western and Atlantic tracks near Johns street yesterday morning, J. T. Jones, of 348 Mangum street, an engineer of the Southern railway, was struck by the incoming Marietta train of the Western and Atlantic. The injured man was taken to Grady hospital for treatment. It was found that his head had been severely hurt and that he had suffered other injuries. His condition is not supposed to be serious.

A LARGE THEATER PARTY, COMposed of members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus and their lady friends, will attend the performance of the "Taming of the Shrew" at the Casino tonight. The party grows out of the cordial relations existing between the Memphis and Atlanta councils of the order. A member of the troup, Joseph O'Meara, is a member of the Memphis branch of the order, and several local knights have arranged this entertainment as a compliment to him.

PEACE CONGRESS AT WASHINGTON

peace, Russia indicated Paris as the most desirable place for the meeting to negotiate a treaty, and Japan indicated Chefoo. There the subject rested for forty-eight hours. Finally, Japan declined to consider Paris, for obvious reasons, and Russia objected to the holding of the conference in any Oriental city.

Washington was then suggested as a place at which the belligerents could meet on common ground, undisturbed by either political or personal influences. As a means of facilitating the negotiations, the president suggested that the conference be held at The Hague, the seat of the international arbitration tribunal, and the location of the first general arbitration conference, called at the instance of Emperor Nicholas, of Russia. He indicated that for both practical and sentimental reasons, The Hague would be a most desirable place of meeting for the plenipotentiaries.

Further consideration of the subject developed the practically unalterable objection of Japan to any European capital as a seat for the conference. She objected particularly to the Hague, believing that it was too far within the sphere of Russian influence, and for a similar reason she declined favorably to consider Geneva. Until today, however, irreconcilable opposition to the selection of any European capital was not known definitely. At a conference which Togoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, had with President Roosevelt today, he conveyed to the president the Japanese government's final refusal to consent to the holding of the conference in Europe.

Japanese Minister with Roosevelt.

Minister Takahira reached the executive office at 10:45 a. m., and was ushered at once into President Roosevelt's private office. They remained in conference for an hour and twenty-five minutes. The conference was not prearranged, but the significance of the advices which Minister Takahira bore from his government induced the president to deny himself to all callers until the conclusion of the conference.

Count Cassini, Russian ambassador, called at the white house about 3 o'clock today and remained with the president for nearly half an hour. As he left the white house he said that he could add nothing at this time to the announcement authorized by the president. The question of the selection of the plenipotentiaries, he added, had not been determined, and he indicated that it probably would be several days before the preliminary negotiations were concluded. Whether the selection of Washington will affect the selection by Russia of M. Nelidoff as one of her envoys is not known, though the opinion here is that he will come from Paris.

The refusal of Japan to agree to the holding of the conference in Europe was communicated by President Roosevelt to the Russian ambassador and likewise cabled to St. Petersburg. While the president did not act in the capacity of arbiter between Russia and Japan, he was in a position, after the conference with Minister Takahira, and his communication to Ambassador Cassini, to formally announce the selection of Washington as the seat of the conference.

Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon Ambassador Cassini called at the white house by appointment and was received by the president in the blue room. The president explained to the ambassador the nature of his interview with Minister Takahira and conveyed to him the personal assurance that the American government would do all in its power, which it properly might do, to afford the plenipotentiaries of the two governments comfortable and convenient facilities for the transaction of the extremely important duties. Other details of the conference, which lasted half an hour, were withheld. Neither the president nor Ambassador Cassini, after the interview, cared to discuss for publication the nature of their conference.

Will Name Plenipotentiaries.

In view of the selection of the place of conference, it is expected that within a few days at most, Russia and Japan will announce formally the names of their respective plenipotentiaries.

It is deemed likely also that coincidentally with the announcement of the plenipotentiaries an agreement will be reached as to the time of holding the conference. While the date is not so important a detail as to the place, it is of particular concern, especially at this season, not only to those who are actively to participate in it, but also to diplomatists generally who are accredited to this capital. A mid-summer conference anywhere, so prolonged as a peace conference is likely to be, is not regarded with entirely pleasant anticipations. It is indicated, however, that the proposed conference is scarcely likely to be convened before the middle of August, and perhaps not until a later date. It may be July 1st, possibly a little later, before the arrangements of the meeting of the plenipotentiaries finally are accepted.

Both Russia and Japan are moving with the utmost deliberation, for the game of diplomacy now being played is of even greater importance to each government than are the movements of the armies on the battle field. It will require at least a month for the negotiators of the two governments, with their respective staffs, to come together, the distance from Japan particularly being so great that a shorter time scarcely could be allowed. In view, therefore, of all the conditions included in the equation of the factor of unforeseen delays over matters of minor consequence, it seems quite likely that the conference will not assemble formally before the middle of August or the first of September.

Peace Protocol.

Prior to the formal assembling of the conference, it is probable, if precedent be followed, that a peace protocol will be negotiated. The making of the protocol will take place before the declaration of a formal armistice. It has not been learned yet who will be authorized by the Russian and Japanese governments to arrange and sign the protocol.

The negotiations regarding it probably will be conducted in Washington, and it is regarded as likely that the respective diplomatic representatives of the belligerents will sign the document on behalf of their governments.

It is too early yet definitely to announce what arrangements may be made here for the holding of the conference. It is the custom for the government at whose capital such negotiations are conducted to provide a suitable place in which to furnish the negotiators with adequate facilities for the transaction of their business.

President Roosevelt is gratified that the arrangements of a preliminary nature have been completed without undue friction. He would have preferred that the conference be held at The Hague, although the selection of Washington naturally is complimentary to him personally and to the American government.

It is not expected that the selection of Washington will interfere materially with the summer plans of the president.

Kuropatkin May Come.

Private advices reaching here from Europe today say that Emperor Nicholas has been considering General Kuropatkin as a possible associate for M. Nelidoff, but that nothing is being said on the subject in St. Petersburg least Kuropatkin's enemies rally against him. The fact that General Kuropatkin possesses the confidence of the Japanese and his wide knowledge of Asiatic politics gained through long experience in Manchuria, as well as his acquaintance with Russian policies in Persia and his experiences as governor of trans-Caspia, and as minister of war, contributes in the opinion of officials and diplomats here to his fitness for the important mission. This news, however, comes in a private dispatch, and lacks official confirmation.

FACTS not THEORIES TRUTH not FICTION.

The truth is what the American public wants in these days. The way of truth is also the way of health now that trying weather is here. We hear a tale of hard colds, bad coughs, "threatened with pneumonia" and almost bronchitis. Maybe it is talk of "spring" fever, backache, cold feet and perhaps the early symptoms of grip. Take the ounce of prevention that is worth the pound of cure that will carry you through the bad spring weather. "A safe and sane" tonic to use at this time is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Why? because it is an honest medicine! Made from medicinal plants that put new blood in your veins, new vigor in the worn-out body, fresh strength in the muscles, heart and brain.

Truth Speaks.

Fraud is a bubble that soon bursts. Truth is a foundation of rock that cannot be moved! In order to separate the false from the true—Dr. Pierce has decided to let the public know just what is contained in his "Golden Medical Discovery."

This valuable tonic and blood purifier has been sold in ever increasing quantities for nearly forty years—its success seemed phenominal to those not familiar with its ingredients but the secret is out now and you know why it is that Dr. Pierce found it so uniformly successful in treating chronic cases—those who were run-down whose blood was bad owing to imperfect digestion—perhaps the skin showing scrofulous tendency due to impure blood—and the heart and arteries left in a weakened condition. Dr. R. V. Pierce during an active practice found time to experiment and study the combining of the following native medicinal plants into an alterative—in which just the right proportions were scientifically combined to make the most effective remedy without the use of a particle of alcohol as follows:

1. BLOODROOT (Sanguinaria Canadensis).
2. STONE ROOT (Collinsonia Canadensis).
3. GOLDEN SEAL (Hydrastis Canadensis).
4. QUEEN'S ROOT (Stillingia Sylvatica).
5. MANDRAKE (Podophyllum Peltatum).
6. CHERRYBARK (Prunus Virginiana).

One of the most scientific authorities, in his Medical Dispensatory says of Bloodroot: "It stimulates the digestive organs, increases action of heart and arteries—valuable as a stimulant and tonic as well as a remedy for a cough." Of the following plants he further says: "Stone root is an alterative, tonic and stimulant. Improves appetite, promotes flow of gastric juice and a good remedy in indigestion, dyspepsia, chronic gastritis and increases the secretion from the kidneys and skin. Mandrake is a gentle stimulant tonic, improves the appetite and is a certain but sure cathartic which leaves the bowels in an improved condition." While of Queen's root he says: "an alterative unsurpassed by few if any other of the known alteratives, most successful in skin and scrofulous affections, aids in blood-making and nutrition."

CHANCE CLEW THROWS LIGHT ON BIG THEFT

Robbery of Several Thousand of Dollars from Anderson Hardware Co. Is Uncovered in Inman Park.

A series of robberies of the Anderson Hardware Company extending, it is thought, over three years, and covering several thousand dollars was brought to an abrupt close about 10 o'clock last night when two negroes, Will Jones and Tom Calhoun, were placed behind bars in the county jail.

The arrests were made by County Officer W. A. Wright, assisted by Officer Fred White, after the former had worked on the case less than twenty-four hours, having discovered the clew accidentally.

Officer Wright was detailed to look into a robbery at the home of M. M. Turner, near Inman Park, Wednesday morning. While working on this case, he fell on a chance clew, which led him to investigate. He found that a series of robberies were being perpetrated by men who lived in that neighborhood, and soon a suspicion was fixed on Jones and Calhoun.

On entering the first house, that of Jones, the sight which met the gaze of the two officers surprised and astounded them. In every corner, nook and crevice they saw goods of all descriptions piled high with the utmost abandon.

The two officers at once secreted themselves to wait for their prey. The two negroes came up together about 10 o'clock last night and were placed in custody and brought to the city. The negroes said that Mr. Anderson, of the Anderson Hardware Company, had given them the goods.

An inventory of the goods brought to the city and the larger portion of them had to be left at the house, shows that several hundred dollars worth of Rogers' best silverware was, with the numerous revolvers, over thirty-five pairs of new pliers, and, in fact, everything imaginable in the hardware line which could be carried off in one's arms, down to a large package of cannon crackers.

The goods were taken to the court house and locked in a room. It is estimated that there is over $1,000 worth of hardware in the room, and as much still out at the houses.

The officers have another clew which leads them to believe that another series of crimes have been going on in connection with the one just brought to a close, whereby one pair of negroes swaps hardware with the undiscovered pair for groceries and the other stolen articles.

Mr. Anderson, of the Anderson Hardware Company, says he has been missing large lots of his goods at different times, but that he had been unable to fix suspicion on any one. He identified the stolen goods.

ELECTRICAL MEN AT ASHEVILLE

Engineers And Inventors to Meet in Annual Convention.

The annual convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will be held at Asheville, N. C., June 19-23. The members of this organization are scattered all over the United States. There are more than 3,000 members, among whom are the most noted electrical engineers and lectrical inventors of the present day. It is one of the most important gatherings that has been held in the south in a great many years and there is considerable interest in the meeting.

The convention comes to the south, bringing as it does the men who are the leading factors in all hydro-electrical developments, electric railways, etc. The progress and development of the south along electrical lines during the past ten years has been rapid and remarkable. The membership of this convention has played an important part in this work and it has opened up a new field for their genius. Many of them have never before visited the south and the meeting at Asheville will afford them an opportunity of seeing this section of the country. An effort will be made by the Atlanta branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers to induce a number of the prominent members of the institute to visit Atlanta for several days. Plans looking to this end are on foot and it is believed they will be successful.

Fifteen or twenty members of the Atlanta branch will be present at the meeting. A. M. Schoen is chairman and W. R. Collier secretary of the Atlanta branch and as officers of the organization they will play an important part in the meeting at Asheville and the entertainment of the distinguished men who will probably visit Atlanta.

Will Invite the Press.

Milledgeville, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Milledgeville is going to make a strong pull next week at Cordele to have the next meeting of the Press Association held in this city. Quite a delegation is expected to go to Cordele next week to extend the invitation.

MUSE'S

3-5-7 WHITEHALL

FOR THE NEGRO. AND CHINAMAN

Plea is Made by Secretary of War Taft.

He Wants the Ballot Laws of South To Apply Alike to White and Black and Favors Amendment of Chinese Exclusion Law.

Oxford, Ohio, June 15.—The feature of the eighty-first commencement of Miami university here today was the address of Secretary of War William Taft. It was delivered in the commencement tent erected on the campus among the forest trees. The unusually large audience made frequent interruptions with applause.

The Negro and the Ballot.

In opening his speech Secretary Taft touched on the racial question in the south, and in this connection said:

"Another encouraging feature of the present increase in the wealth is that a large proportion of this increase has been in the south, a part of our country which heretofore has been largely agricultural and poor. The change in the material condition in the south, in spite of the present difficulties that certainly are there, is creating a better state of things with reference to the racial question. The work of Booker T. Washington in teaching his people how to use tools instead of giving them a superficial university education which they cannot use, added to the industrial demand for skilled labor will, I am certain, put the negro population in a better condition materially, and when this is brought about their spiritual and intellectual uplifting is much easier. The southern states are engaged in adopting constitutions which seem intended to exclude the negro from the ballot in fact, without infringing the fifteenth amendment so palpably as to lead to their annulment by the supreme court. I am hoping earnestly that experiments of this sort will fail, but if they will lead to a result in which the laws shall exclude ignorant whites and blacks equally from the ballot, then no one can quarrel with the procedure which will be square and honest."

Chinese Exclusion Law.

Touching the application of the Chinese exclusion law, the secretary asks:

"Is it just that for the purpose of excluding or preventing perhaps 100 Chinese coolies from stopping in this country against the law, we should subject an equal number of Chinese merchants and students of high character to an examination of such an inquisitorial humiliating, insulting and physically uncomfortable character as to discourage altogether the coming of merchants and students?"

Then he said:

"One of the great commercial prizes of the world is the trade with the 400,000,000 Chinese. Ought we to throw away the advantage which we have by reason of Chinese natural friendship for us and continue to enforce an unjustly severe law, and thus create in the Chinese mind a disposition to boycott American trade and to drive our merchants from Chinese shores simply because we are afraid that we may for the time lose the approval of certain unreasonable and extremely popular leaders of California and other coast states? Does the question not answer itself? Is it not the duty of members of congress and of the executive to disregard the unreasonable demands of a portion of the community deeply prejudiced upon this subject in the far west and insist on extending justice and courtesy to a people from whom we are deriving and are likely to derive such immense benefit in the way of international trade?"

The secretary then paid same attention to Porto Rico and the Philippines—'the burdens which we have assumed due to the Spanish war."

"I do not," he said, "for a moment contend that now or for years they will prove anything but a burden to the United States."

"MUST SAVE NEGRO YOUTH."

So Declares Speaker at Negro Baptist Convention.

Washington, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—"We must save the youth of the negro race, and if we fail, then there is no future for the negro in this country," declared Rev. W. G. Johnson, D.D., in his annual address before the twelfth annual session of the Negro General State Baptist convention, which convened here last night, and will be in session until Sunday.

Fully 1,000 delegates are here.

Rev. W. G. Johnson called attention to this in his annual address before the convention several years ago, and at once went about to raise money with which to purchase land for the erection of a reformatory for negro youth. Three hundred and forty-nine acres have been purchased and paid for near Macon, and now the work of raising money to erect suitable buildings has begun, and at the close of the address this morning delivered by President Johnson, negroes contributed liberally to the cause.

"We have more negro boys and girls in the prisons on Georgia than we have in the schools," said Dr. Johnson.

Colonel B. S. Irvin, a lawyer of Washington, and brother of the mayor of the city, delivered an address of welcome to the convention.

The Rev. Dr. P. J. Bryant, an Atlanta negro preacher, responded to the address. "We are here in the south and we are here to stay," he said.

CLARKE COUNTY BUILDING ROADS

Will Macadamize About Sixty Miles of Public Highways.

Athens, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The work of macadamizing the country roads of Clarke county with the $100,000 recently provided by bond issue of Clarke county is proceeding with all rapidity. The Jefferson road has been graded from the Seaboard Air Line bridge to the normal school, and the hands are now about ready to open up the quarry and get out the rock to place on the road. The rock quarry machinery was carried out yesterday and will be installed at once.

Superintendent Stanley is satisfied that during the present year several miles of macadamized roadway can be completed. It is expected during the next five years to macadamize at least 60 miles of roadway in this county.

WORK FOR TREUTLEN COUNTY.

Large Mass Meeting Held at Chipley Yesterday.

Chipley, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Quite a large number of the leading citizens of the territory, which is seeking to be made into Treutlen county, held an enthusiastic meeting in Chipley yesterday afternoon, with Hon. O. D. Tucker as chairman, and Assistant Cashier John T. Wisdom as secretary.

Talks were made by several of the representative citizens present, and it was agreed by all present that this locality is justly entitled to one of the eight new counties and that they would actively work to get it.

The people have an abiding faith in the justice of their claim, believing it appropriate to honor Georgia's martyr governor, John Adam Treutlen, after the lapse of so many years.

Treutlen county is peculiar in one respect, which is that its citizens are almost entirely composed of farmers, and all enthusiastic in their desire for a new county.

STANDARD TIME IS UPHELD.

Important Insurance Decision by Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., June 15.—The Kentucky court of appeals today, in the case of a fire insurance company, against the Peaslee-Gaulbert Company from Jefferson county, upholds "standard" over "sun" time in defining "noon." The plant of the Apellee Company was destroyed at 11:59 o'clock a. m., and the policy expired under its terms at "noon." The lower court held the company liable for the loss, and this is upheld.

RAWLINGS HELD FOR THE MURDER

His Arrest Follows That of His Three Sons.

Willie Carter, the Boy Who Was Slain, Lived Several Hours and Declared Jesse Rawlings Was Person Who Shot Him.

Valdosta, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—The latest arrest in connection with the murder of the Carter children at Hahira, is that of J. G. Rawlins, whose three sons were arrested yesterday with two negroes, who ere charged with the crime. Frank Turner, a negro preacher, has also been arrested.

Willie Carter, the 17-year-old boy who was slain, lived several hours after being wounded, and declared that Jesse Rawlings had shot him.

The father of the murdered children is still suffering from wounds inflicted upon him by J. G. Rawlings a month ago. His son was recently the prosecutor of one of the Rawlings boys, who, it seems, tried to drown him in the river. There has been bad blood between the families for some time. It is believed that the elder Rawlings planned the attack and came to Valdosta in order to establish an alibi.

Rawlings is also known to have had another serious difficulty, from which he lost the sight of one eye. He attacked a railway engineer for running a locomotive through his land and was fired upon.

It is declared that the Rawlings boys were seen loitering around the Carter home on the night of the murder, and were seen by three members of the family. Later Carter fired at them as they were preparing to put shucks under the house preparatory to firing it.

The Hahira district is very much excited over the dual tragedy.

DAMAGE CASE STILL ON TRIAL

Witnesses Call Dr. Kilgo a "Ward Politician."

Raleigh, N. C., June 15.—(Special.)—In the Gattis-Kilgo libel damage case in the superior court here, ex-Judge Shuford, of Asheville, and Alexander Cameron, of the state agricultural board, swore as to statements they had heard as to the reputation of Dr. Kilgo, in his native state, South Carolina, Cameron defining it in church matters as "like that of a ward politician in city politics."

The other side vehemently protested aganst such. There were a number of character witnesses for Gattis. The plaintiff rested, and then the defendant moved to dismiss. This motion was warmly and at length debated, the jury having been sent out of the court room much of the time. No end of the case is in sight.

FOOT COVERERS TO MANKIND.

ROACH'S FRIENDS WERE FOOTPADS

Assaulted and Robbed by Two Companions.

Cries of Murder Heard on Roadside. Roach Found Bruised and Bleeding — Pockets Were Torn Out—He Tells His Story.

A man crying "murder" and calling for help caused a great deal of excitement in a stretch of woods near North Boulevard, and not far from Ponce de Leon park, last night about 10 o'clock. Police officers and citizens made an investigation and found E. W. Roach, a countryman, who lives at Royston, on the Southern road and near Gainesville, Ga., covered with blood and his clothing cut and torn.

Roach was taken to the police barracks, where he told a startling story of a highway robbery.

He said he came to Atlanta yesterday and met two strangers on the train, who told him they were named "Smith" and "Johnson." When he reached the city the two men asked him to take in the town with them, and he consented. They had a few rounds of drinks, and last night between 8 and 9 o'clock the trio started for Ponce de Leon, walking out North Boulevard.

Assaulted and Robbed.

"When we reached a place near where there were dark woods on the side of the road," Roach told the officers, "the two men whom I thought were my friends knocked me down and dragged me into the woods. One of them held me down while the other beat me with a club. One of the men ripped out my pockets with a knife and took my money, $3.75, and my watch. I cried 'murder' as loud as I could, and called for help. I was so stunned by the blows that I lay on the ground several minutes after the men left me. I managed to crawl to the street, where I met a man, whom I told of the assault and robbery."

Bruised and Bleeding.

Roach's face was bruised and bleeding. His pockets were torn out and his clothing had been cut with a knife. He was partially under the influence of liquor, but was not drunk.

The police tried to find some clew to the two men who committed the assault and robbery, but no trace of them could be found.

Roach says his father is a farmer and that he came to Atlanta to rest a few days, as his health was not good. He told the officers that he would know the two men who attacked him if he ever saw them again.

He was given a bed for the night. The case will be further investigated today.

The police found Roach's father at the Neal house, corner of Decatur and Pryor streets, shortly after the robbery was reported. He said he had given his son $5, but did not know where he had gone. Father and son came to Atlanta together.

DEAD MAN ASKED FOR TRAIN FARE

Conductor Finds Passenger Dead When He Approached.

Crawford, of Host, Ala., Boarded Train on Mobile and Girard Road, and Was Dead When Conductor Parsons Called for Ticket.

Columbus, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Going to a dead man to collect fare was the unusual experience that Conductor E. L. Parsons, of the Mobile and Girard branch of the Central, running on a train between Columbus and Andalusia, Ala., had yesterday. A man by the name of Crawford, living at a little village named Host, near Brantley, Ala., boarded the train at Troy, Ala., and quietly took a seat.

When the conductor went to collect his fare he thought that he was asleep. He attempted to arouse him, and was horrified to find that the passenger was dead. While seated in the car, he had suddenly and quietly passed away, without a struggle, or without anything transpiring to attract the attention of those around him. His name was ascertained from papers on his person. He was en route to Theba, Ala. The body was taken from the train at Brantley. The cause of his death was not discovered, but it was supposed that it was heart failure.

To Get New Mill.

Columbus, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—A called meeting of the board of trade was held late this afternoon, President J. Ralston Cargill presiding, at which plans were formulated to secure a large hosiery mill for Columbus. A responsible company backed by large capital will establish such an enterprise here with reasonable local encouragement. It seems assured now that Columbus will capture the mill and add another to the city's long list of manufacturing industries. Committees were appointed at the meeting this afternoon and the business men of the city will "get busy" getting up the necessary local subscription.

More Fever at Panama.

A. E. THORNTON HEADS BIG OIL CONVENTION

Cotton Seed Oil Men Gather in Numbers at Lithia Springs.

NOTABLE RESOLUTIONS CALLING FOR DEFENSE

Over 100 Representatives of the Cotton Seed Oil Mills of the State Are Perfecting Organization at Lithia Springs.

Lithia Springs, Ga., June 15.—(Staff Correspondence.)—The perfecting of a permanent organization—the Georgia Cotton Seed Crushers' Association—at this place today brought together over a hundred of the most prominent mill men of Georgia. With the objects of the organization outlined, those interested agree that it marks an epoch in the commercial history of Georgia which must mean much for the best interests of both the cotton seed oil men and the farmers.

At the night session, which was a short one, important business was transacted, including the election of the following officers:

President, A. E. Thornton, Atlanta; treasurer, Thomas Egleston, Atlanta; secretary, J. L. Benton, Monticello, Ga.; vice presidents, elected by congressional districts, first district, George F. Tinnelle, Savannah; second district, J. L. Hand, Pelham; third district, M. S. Harper; fourth district, Colonel H. Bussey, Columbus; fifth district, L. A. Ransom, Atlanta; sixth district, W. E. McCaw, Macon; seventh district, B. S. Pattillo; eighth district, John Bostwick, Bostwick, Ga.; ninth district, H. O. Williford; tenth district, C. W. Dahlgren; eleventh district, E. T. McBurney.

Executive Committee—R. L. Wilson, J. A. Aycock, H. Bond, Porter Fleming, James R. Atwater, D. G. Neil, W. A. McCarty, R. G. Riley, J. H. Taylor, T. M. Tarvers.

After the election of officers, the services of Chairman McCaw, of Macon, of the temporary organization; Secretary T. B. McDowell and E. H. Elleby, the official recorder, were given evidences of appreciation.

Preliminary arrangements and getting acquainted were features of today's session, while the address of L. A. Ransom, of Atlanta, was acknowledged as the most important presented.

Chairman W. E. McCaw, of Macon, presiding over the temporary organization, called on Mr. Ransom, and his address follows:

"I am requested to state the object of this meeting, which I will endeavor to do as briefly as the importance of the subject permits.

"Recently, the Interstate Crusher Association met in New Orleans. That association is composed of cotton oil manufacturers, refiners and brokers and manufacturers of oil mill machinery. Its membership extends from New York to Texas, and its object is to promote the interests of the cotton oil industry throughout the world.

"During the meeting referred to the association considered many important matters, among them being the revision of rules governing the sale of cotton oil products established by that association and various exchanges in this country and Europe; foreign tariffs that affect cotton oil products; the proper handling of cotton seed so as to obtain, for the mills, the highest grade of products, and consequently for the farmers, the highest price for seed; the feeding of cotton seed meal to cattle and hogs, and the creation of a publicity bureau for the purpose of advertising cotton seed products, thus increasing the demand.

The Georgia members of that association, who attended the meeting, were so impressed with the importance of all matters considered, and the great possibility of their further development, that they joined in the call for this meeting, and it was proposed that this state association should be organized on the lines indicated to cooperate with the national association in further promoting the interest of the business.

No other industry stands so close to the farmers of the south as cotton oil mills. If the oil, meal and hulls produced by the mills was consumed where manufactured, the cash value of the seed would be enormously increased. So long as the mils must export large quantities of their products, for lack of demand at home, at comparatively low prices, the mills will be unable to pay high prices for seed. Closer cooperation between the mills and farmers would promptly bring about different and better conditions. It should be the special object of every mil owner and manager to so bring this matter to the attention of the public that the desired results would follow. A very large number of the farmers in Georgia are financially interested in oil mills, and it is safe to say that many of them do not, either by their patronage or by their influence, give the encouragement to the management that is necessary to bring about the best results. Since the convention in New Orleans, where the Southern Cotton Growers' Association was created, and as the Farmers' Union is organized throughout the south, it may be easier for the oil mill and agricultural interests to cooperate for their mutual advantage than has been possible heretofore.

"It is not conceivable that the people of the south would buy and use renovated butter at four times the price of cotton oil if they knew cotton seed oil was a far superior product and can be used equally as well, nor would the farmers of the south buy western lard if they knew that cotton seed oil was far better, purer, more wholesome and cheaper than lard. It is not supposable that the people of this section would pay $18 to $20 for western hay if they knew and believed that cotton seed hulls, at $6 to $7 per ton, are fully equal in value to the western product, nor would these same farmers pay as much or more for wheat bran as for cotton seed meal if they were convinced that cotton seed meal was worth, for stock feeding, two and one-half to three times as much as wheat bran.

"For the purpose of aiding in this matter a publicity bureau was created by the Interstate Crushers' Association, and this will be fully discussed during our meeting. We have, therefore, met together today to consider all matters that affect our great industry, and especially to take into consideration the rules governing transactions in cotton oil products; the object and advantages of the publicity bureau; how the quality of seed shipped the mills may be improved and the prices advanced; the consideration of foreign tariffs affecting our interests, the better handling of products by the mills and such other matter as the representatives see proper to bring before the meeting.

"Our meetings and discussions will be open, and all who desire to be present are invited. We want the largest possible attendance, because we wish to show the people the value of the products we make and to secure the cooperation of the producers of seed. Such publicity will show the high purpose of our meeting, our object being to promote the prosperity of the industrial and agricultural interests of Georgia."

Measures of Defense.

The following resolutions, presented by Julian Field, of Atlanta, were the occasion of much complimentary comment. These resolutions and the information had been the matter of much informal discussion. As presented by Mr. Field, they were unanimously adopted with enthusiasm, as containing much that was most important in the work and plans of the organization. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, The government of Germany has promulgated a new schedule of tariffs upon imports into that country, to become effective March 1, 1906, under which the rates of duty upon imports from the United States are largely increased; and,

"Whereas, The duty on cotton seed oil is therein increased from 10 marks per 100 kilograms to 12.50 marks per 100 kilograms, or 25 per cent; and,

"Whereas, The government of Austro-Hungary has arranged a new schedule of tariffs upon imports into that country, which schedule but awaits the favorable action of the two parliaments of that government to become effective, under which the rates of duty upon imports from the United States are largely increased; and,

"Whereas, Under the proposed new schedule of tariffs in Austro-Hungary, the duty on cotton seed oil will be 40 kronen per 100 kilograms, instead of the present rate of 9.52 kronen per 100 kilograms, an increase of more than 300 per cent—that is, from 7 1-2 to 30 cents per gallon, or four-fold—which would be absolutely prohibitory and would result in the destruction of a trade with that country in this commodity, which it has taken years to build up, and which now amounts to 75,000 barrels per annum; and,

"Whereas, In France a bill for an injurious, if not destructive, increase of the duty on cotton seed oil, which has been pending for several years, has been checked by the advocates of reciprocity in that country but the passage of which has now become imminent; and,

"Whereas, The movements above named are manifestly the beginning of a general tariff war upon American products; and,

"Whereas, The 'favored nations' clause in our treatise with foreign nations does not give us the benefit of lower duties in those countries, which are the result of reciprocal arrangements with other nations as a consideration therefor, but only guarantees us the privilege of entering into similar reciprocal arrangements, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Georgia Cotton Seed Crushers' Association urge upon southern United States senators and representatives, upon the southern newspaper press, and upon all commercial and trade organizations throughout the south, earnest efforts to arouse public interest in this subject and to make immediate and concerted efforts for defense against the threatened destruction of a most important southern industry, and be it further

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of the members of this association that in furtherance of the proposed effort for defense, it is of the highest importance that cooperation should be secured between the various trade organizations throughout the whole country, and that this cooperation can be best secured by formal appeals in each state, by the commercial and trade organizations therein, to the United States senators and representatives of such states, and be it further,

"Resolved, That this association believes that the practical method for accomplishing the desired ends is not doctrinal controversies of the tariff question, but simply strong memorials to congress for the consideration at its next session of the present emergency, and the meeting of it by a declaration in favor of whatever modification of our tariff policy can be made without serious disturbance to the American system of protection, and which will, at the same time give due consideration to whatever complaints are made by the by foreiln countries for their radical attacks upon the existing order of things, and be it further

"Resolved That if reciprocity by legislation should seem more feasible and less offensive to many than reciprocity by treatry, such legislation should make the present rates of duty the maximum and not the minimum, and be it further

"Resolved That the officers of this association and the regular committee on legislation, with the addition of such other members as the president may designate, shall take active steps to promote the objects of these resolutions by whatever means their judgement may suggest, and be it further

"Resolved, That printed copies of these resolutions be forwarded by the secretary to leading newspapers of the south, to the United States senators and representatives from the southern states, and to the commercial and trade organizations throughout the country, requesting cooperation in such measures as will afford relief to the cotton seed oil and other American industries, which are so seriously threatened by the tariff legislation now proposed by other countries. Be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the secretary of state of the United States, at Washington, with an urgent request that every possible means be exhausted in procuring a stay of the proposed action on the part of the Austro-Hungarian government increasing its import duties on cotton seed oil, especially, until the congress of the United States can consider and find a reasonable and speedy cure for the antagonisms shown by the prohibitive tariff measures now promulgated and soon to become effective in that country."

Following this set of resolutions came resolutions introduced by Mr. Walker of Griffin, in which the oleomargarine law recently passed by congress is pronounced misleading as well as class legislation.

INJUNCTION SUIT FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Georgia Saw Mill Association's Case Will be Heard.

Effort To Restrain Railroads from Charging Extra Two Cents Per Hundred Pounds on Lumber Will Come Up Then.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—One of the most important cases in the federal court here for the summer session will be the suit for injunction entered by H. H. Tift and others, of the Georgia Saw Mill Association, against the Southern, the Louisville and Nashville, the Georgia Southern and Florida, the Central and other railroads of the south in an effort to restrain them from charging an extra 2 cents per hundred pounds freight on all the lumber output of Georgia and part of Florida to Ohio river points and the west.

The case will be taken up next Tuesday and will probably continue through the entire week. Preparation has been made for an unusually hard legal fight, and the outcome will be watched with considerable interest throughout Georgia and Florida.

Several months ago Judge Speer granted an injunction against the railroads in Savannah, and the case was then carried before the interstate commerce commission at the suggestion of Judge Speer. The hearing resulted in another victory for the lumber men. The railroads were charged with excessive rates and were required to cut off the extra freight which Judge Speer had restrained them from collecting.

Shortly afterwards the saw mill men again went before Judge Speer, claiming that the railroads refused to stop the excessive charges. The answer of the railroads was that no excessive charge had been made. Some of the ablest attorneys in the state will be heard in the suit.

Mr. Guerry Not Politically Active.

Macon, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—Hon. Dupont Guerry enters a disclaimer to the report that he is engaged in devoting any of his time at present to political matters. He is not, he says, discussing the question of a gubernatorial candidate to represent the reform element, nor is he busy arranging political details of any kind. In speaking of the matter today, he said:

"I am being taxed to the utmost in body, mind and heart in my efforts to perform my duties to Wesleyan Female college. Besides the usual heavy work of the summer vacation, we are making large and expensive improvements, and I am begging for money to pay for these improvements as bills mature. When I gave an interview, upon request, to The Atlanta News on Monday last, I used time during which I would have been unavoidably idle. While at the college, or in Macon, I am always unavoidably busy. Of course, when I accepted the office of president of Wesleyan college, I did not renounce my duties as a citizen of Georgia; but I did, knowingly and willingly, so far as that is concerned, give up all politics on my own account. Under the circumstances it is natural for me to feel a peculiar interest in the gubernatorial question and if as the gubernatorial campaign progresses I shall see opportunities for serving the people of Georgia in their effort to secure a governor to serve all legitimate interests wisely and well, such opportunities shall not be ignored; but I am not now and never will be busy with the details of practical politics."

CASES OF FRAUD TO BE PROSECUTED

Credit Men's Association To Raise Fund for Purpose.

Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, Addresses the Delegates to the Convention Now in Session at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., June 15.—Delegates to the convention of the National Association of Credit Men were astir early today in preparation for an outing in Arkansas. A special train left the Union station at 9 o'clock, bearing the visitors to Menesha, Ark., as guests of the Menesha Outing Club. A stop was made at Clarksville, where a cotton gin was in full operation. The visitors also viewed a large field of growing cotton.

The remainder of the morning hours were spent in hunting and fishing, and it was shortly before noon when President Standart called the convention to order in the Menesha Club house for its business session.

Senator Carmack Speaks.

After the appointment of chairmen of state delegations, United States Senator E. W. Carmack, of Tennessee, was introduced. Senator Carmack referred to the work of the credit man as being most important, and said that only a small number of people were in a position to appreciate the difficulties under which he labored.

Malcolm Graham, Jr., of New York, chairman of the investigation and prosecution committee, presented the report of that body. The committee urged the adoption by the convention of the following recommendations:

"First. That each local association create a prosecution fund on a guaranty or cash basis, as each may prefer, and to administer the same.

"Second. That the operation of this plan be cooperative and that the prosecution of fraudulent cases be conducted by the association nearest the point where the debtor is amenable to such prosecution.

"Third. That the national association membership be classified with the local associations for the purpose solely of this work and their protection.

"Fourth. That the total funds so created be known and designated as a national fund."

The report of the committee on improvement of mercantile agrency service was presented by Chairman C. D. McLaren, of St. Paul, Minn. The report says it appears that the two leading mercantile agencies do not maintain the same standard of service as their several branches, notwithstanding that a uniform price is charged, and authority is asked by the committee to make a thorough investigation of this matter and by an extended examination of the agency reports and an exhaustive comparison of the service rendered by the two agencies to determine which agency is giving the better service generally, and also ascertain where the local branches of the association are suffering as a result of unsatisfactory agency service, to the end that the national association may exert its influence to a betterment of such conditions.

Committee Reports Names.

The nominating committee reported the following names from which to select three directors for the ensuing year:

Charles G. Rapp, Philadelphia; Henry T. Smith, Chicago; C. D. McLaren, St. Paul; Lee M. Hutchens, Grand Rapids; W. G. Seely, Detroit, and Frank Simpson, Los Angeles.

The convention then adjourned until tomorrow.

No railroad man on duty in a round tower lookout scans more keenly the network of track that he may safely direct the moving trains than do those in charge here see to it that the prices are such as will protect the people and prosper the store.

Our business depends upon the fullest return of your confidence, and upon giving overvalue rather than undervalue for the money spent with us. Therefore we still stand to the resolution on which we began to build so many years ago, by which we at least helped to revolutionize retailing, when we declared that anything unright or untrue in value or quality must be returned and cashed on sight. This looked to be in the interest of our customers, but it is in our own interest as well, and makes us a heap more self-respecting.

VETERANS REELECT LEE AND NAME NEW ORLEANS

numerical strength of Kentucky and Tennessee has done much to swell the attendance to its present large proportions.

The veterans are having a good time, and are loud in their praises of Kentucky hospitality. This afternoon several thousand of the old soldiers were the guest of the city at a barbecue held at Western park. Here they were treated to Kentucky's classic dish, "Burgoo," with numerous things to drink on the side.

"Dixie" Set Them Wild.

The first business of the convention today after the invocation, which was by Rev. James P. Smith, of Richmond, Va., one of the two surviving staff officers of Stonewall Jackson, was the reading of the report of the committee on credentials. As there were no contests this matter was quickly disposed of. There was considerable confusion among the delegates, and General Lee took the veterans sharply to task for delaying the business of the convention. Business was about to be resumed when the arrival of a drum corps with fifes playing "Dixie," set the veterans wild. Quiet was restored, but only momentarily as the drum corps marched out, and a few minutes later, escorting a group of sponsors to the platform.

The report of the history committee was then submitted by General Evans, of Georgia, its chairman. The object of the committee is to secure accurate history, which is to be incorporated in the text books in southern schools. The report says in part:

"During the first two decades after the surrender an effort was evidently made to cast the general record of the southern states into an opprobrious shadow and also to infect the minds of the youth of the entire country with the opinion that there was nothing noble, nothing true, nothing good in the confederate cause. These attempted perversions of history were resented, but the south was without facilities for reaching by any kind of literature the masses of their countrymen of the northern states to correct the errors into which they were led. Therefore, unfair history and other pernicious publications gained entrance into the schools and homes of nearly every section, north and south, and a disastrous inflammation of the sectional spirit was the result. The protest of confederate associations caused investigations, which resulted in the appalling discovery that the south was permitting its sons and daughters to be taught that the gross charges against the southern people, of rebellion, treason and war atrocities and the like were historical facts.

False Histories Driven Out.

"This discovery was followed by appeals to boards of education and other civil authorities, to southern self respect and to honorable publishers, with a result that the most offensive of the false histories have been driven from southern schools. This conference body has been pleased by the changed attitude of many northern leaders and honorable publishers, and will welcome their alliance in the production of literature which shall be just and generous to every section of the union. Sincere cooperation among those who desire impartial history which will inspire all citizens of our country with similar patriotic spirit is a consummation most earnestly sought for by this association, especially is this desirable in all histories of that strife which was the greatest American war. May not the story of that struggle be told with fairness to both sections? On the part of the south there is nothing to fear from truthful history. We ask for historical generosity and will give as much without stint. The report recommends that each state establish a department of archives and history."

Shackling of Davis Condemned.

The reading of the report caused great enthusiasm. An amendment by Member Davenport, of Americus, Ga., that the future histories show that Jefferson Davis was cruelly treated and unnecessarily shackled was accepted and the report adopted.

A call of the resolutions committee developed the presence of a federal officer on that important body. His name is Colonel S. C. Russell and he is accredited to the Indian Territory.

Comrade B. B. Paddock, of Fort Worth, declined to sit in the same room with Colonel Russell and in response to a chorus of "Take him off," "Take him off!" General Lee substituted the name of Captain J. J. Kendall, of the Indian Territory.

General Lee, however, took occasion to pay a compliment to Colonel Russell, and said he had some time ago written a splendid tribute to the southern soldier.

A telegram from the Grand Army post of Madison, Ind., was read and received a moderate cheer.

The report of the battle abbey committee, of which General Evans is chairman, was read. It shows that the committee now has in subscriptions and money, including the Charles Broadway Rouss subscription, $206,000, subject to a claim in suit for $16,000 by John C. Underwood for commissions, and in which an appeal has been taken. The trustees will attempt to raise a further fund of $50,000. The battle abbey is now considered in a safe condition and will be built in Richmond. The reason work has not been begun on the abbey is because the exact site in Richmond has not been decided upon.

Davis Monument.

The report of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association of the United Daughters of the Confederacy shows that the committee now has in bank for the purpose of erecting the monument $69,000 and that the contract has been signed for the unveiling of the work in Richmond on June 3, 1907. The report was unanimously adopted. It is hoped to have the unveiling ceremonies as a part of the reunion of 1907.

General Lee instructed General Lowry, of Mississippi, to draw up a resolution of thanks to the ladies of the monument association on the completion of the Davis monument.

"Make it strong," yelled Comrade Jim Crow, of Sheffield, Ala., and it was so ordered.

At 12 o'clock the business of the convention was suspended and the annual memorial services held. The opening prayer was delivered by Rev. Dr. Carlos Jones, of Louisville, and adresses were delivered by Rev. E. L. Powell, of Louisville, and Rev. Landing Burrows, of Nashville, Tenn. The benediction was pronounced by Chaplain General J. William Jones, United Confederate Veterans.

Harris, of Macon, Spoke.

At the opening of the afternoon session General Lee introduced Captain N. E. Harris, of Macon, Ga., who delivered the annual address to the veterans. Captain Harris spoke for more than two hours, and held the attention of his audience throughout. His vivid pictures of Stonewall Jackson, John B. Gordon and other leaders on the battle field aroused the veterans to a high pitch of enthusiasm, and when Captain Harris concluded he was given an ovation, the audience rising en masse and singing "Bonnie Blue Flag." In closing Captain Harris said:

"I have said oftentimes, and I say today, that I suffered more hardships and trials, and experienced more dangers after the war had ended and peace had been declared than I had ever encountered during the four years of the struggle in the field.

"I look back upon the horrors of those days in my own native state with a shrinking at heart that has never been lessened by the lapse of time. A father's grave rises out of the mist, a victim to the burning hate and malice that began to sluice itself on the southern people as soon as the soldiers were turned loose. I have slept on high eminences in order that I might watch for scouring search parties who were shooting down in cold blood every man that wore the southern uniform, and for no other reason. I have seen the horion at night lit up with the burning homes of my friends, whose only offense was that they had been soldiers in the confederate army. But the twentieth century is here already signalized by the event of an epoch, destined to be crowned with the offerings of peace and triumph, and rainbowed with the glories of a perfect Christian life.

"The Invisible Ruler of the universe has been watching over the destinies of your solely tried people. Your sacrifices were not all unappreciated, and your tears have not all been shed in vain. In the evolution and perfection of the plan of Jehovah toward the race of men, the upbuilding and rehabilitation of your prostrate country has been as marked and conspicuous as its overthrow was sorrowful and complete."

Next Reunion for New Orleans.

General Lee had barely announced that the order of business was the selection of a place of meeting for next year when from every part of the hall came shouts of "New Orleans, "New Orleans," "New Orleans." Order was restored long enough to permit General A. B. Booth, commander of the Louisiana division, to extend the official invitation of the city of New Orleans and the state of Louisiana, and to speak briefly of the beauty and hospitality of the Crescent City. Miss Mollie Blanchard, a sweet voiced brunette from New Orleans, set the delegates wild with her singing of "Dixie" although the piece was rendered under difficulties, the singer being some distance from the band, which tried to accompany her.

General George W. Gordon, of Memphis, commander of the Tennessee division, extended the invitation of Nashville, in behalf of two and a half million people of the state, and of various organiations of Nashville. General Gordon said that Nashville was reasonably near the geographical center of the confederate states, and read a leiter of invitation from the chamber of commerce of Nashville. Mr. G. W. Baskette, editor of The Nashville Banner, was then introduced, and gracefully seconded the invitation.

Former Governor Jones, of Arkansas, spoke in favor of New Orleans. He said the city wanted them and would welcome them heartily. "The city is thoroughly confederate," said Governor Jones. "In fact," said the governor, "there is not a man, woman, child, negro or dog in New Orleans but what is confederate."

Dr. McMurray, of Nashville, indorsed the claims of his city in a brief speech. The check to the enthusiasm for New Orleans was but temporary, and on a rising vote the Crescent City was decided upon. The selection was made unanimous amid much confusion.

General George P. Harrison, of Alabama, chairman of a committee appointed to confer with committees from other confederate organizations, read a report recommending that the words of the famous song, "Dixie," be not changed, as the sentiment of the old boys in gray was decidedly against it. It was adopted.

Committee on Resolutions.

The report of the committee on resolutions was read by Governor Fleming, of Florida. The report indorsed the effort to bring about peace between the foreign nations of the Far East and expressses the hope that "before the full noonday of this twentieth century shall come universal peace shall be proclaimed and that all the nations of the earth shall have 'beaten their swords into plow shares, their spears into pruning hoofs and nations shall learn war no more.'"

A copy of this resolution was ordered to the inter-parliamentary commission.

Major E. W. Anderson, first lieutenant commander of Charles Broadway Rouss camp, No. 1191, of Washington, D. C., offered the following resolution and the committee incorporated it in its report:

"Whereas, the bill before congress for the care of the graves of confederate soldiers buried near hospitals and prisons in northern states has so far failed of passage by that body; be it

"Resolved, That this association of United Confederate Veterans, in convention assembled, urges the passage of this bill as a matter of right and duty, not only on the part of the senators and representatives in congress from southern states, but also on the part of those from all other states of the United States, in that the government is charged with the sepulture of those who died prisoners in its hands, according to the usages of civilization, of which the United States form a large and competent part.

This section of the report caused considerable discussion, but it was finally adopted.

Present Officers Reelected.

The report recommended the creation of the office of vice commander in chief to fill the office of commander in chief, with title of brevet lieutenant general, in case of emergency. This proposed change in legislation caused a long discussion, and it was finally lost. The remainder of the report of the resolutions committee was given to minor matters. The report was adopted.

The election of officers was then taken up and the present officers were quickly reelected. An attempt was made to defeat the election of General Cabell, of Texas, as commander of the trans-Mississippi division, but it failed. Just before General Lee brought his gavel down declaring the econvention adjourned, a veteran from Tennessee inquired why General George W. Gordon had not been reelected. It was explained to the old soldier that General Gordon was a department commander and was elected by his department. This explanation was satisfactory, and the old man sank into his chair much pleased. It was just 6:30 when General Lee, with a rap of his historic gavel, declared the reunion of 1905 adjourned sine die.

For the State's Soldiery.

The friends of the militia of Georgia are actively interesting themselves in a movement whose purpose is to impress upon the legislature the advisability of making more liberal appropriations for the support of the state troops.

Those in the best position to know whereof they speak—notably Adjutant General Harris and the commanding officers of the different organizations—claim that it is impossible to maintain the state's military organization at its present standing, much less make the progress that is required under the new federal law making appropriations for the militia, unless the proper support is obtained from the state's law-makers.

The appropriation made by congress is not sufficient to provide for the proper equipment of the troops. What the friends of the state's soldiery will ask of the legislature is a sufficiently large appropriation to complete the equipment, to provide for camps of instruction, and in general to put the militia in a satisfactory condition. This will not require a heavy appropriation, but the men most closely in touch with the needs of the militia think the appropriation should be considerably greater than it has been in the past.

The matter is one which should receive favorable consideration at the hands of the legislature. In order for the Georgia militia to secure its share of the money appropriated by congress it must be kept up to a high standard of efficiency; but this cannot be done unless the state will do its full part. Georgia's standing today is excellent, and every citizen is interested in having that standard maintained.

The officers of the different organizations who are interesting themselves in the effort to impress upon the legislature the necessity for more liberal treatment of the militia should have the hearty cooperation of the people generally.

The Greene-Gaynor Case.

At some time in the not far future John F. Gaynor and Benjamin J. Greene, who six years ago took French leave of the jurisdiction of the United States, forfeiting bail in the sum of $10,000 each, for the fancied security of a domicile in Canada, are expected to be back in Savannah to answer in court the indictments found against them in that city prior to their sensational flight from New York.

It is a long time since a federal grand jury found the true bills that connected Greene and Gaynor with the gigantic harbor contract frauds in Georgia's chief port city—as far back as December, 1899. Since that time Uncle Sam has exhausted every legal effort to bring the accused refugees to trial, and in the meantime Captain Oberlin M. Carter, the army officer whose partners in crime they are believed to have been, has served his term in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

This has proven to be a remarkable case, not because it involves any knotty degal propositions, but because of the test to which it has put American extradition relations with Canada. A final victory for this government, which seems to be in sight, will go far to deter other embezzlers and criminal grafters from seeking Canadian protection from legal punishment in the United States. The extradition provisions in force between the two countries are now ample. The chief obstacle in the present case was the remarkable decision of a Canadian judge and his abuse of the habeas corpus prerogative.

The history of the case is thus epitomized: The federal grand jury in Savannah found true bills against Greene and Gaynor, together with Captain Carter, charging them with embezzlement and defrauding the United States government in connection with a number of contracts for the improvement of the Savannah river and other river and harbor improvements in that section of Georgia. In the case against Carter it was alleged that the trio divided between themselves some $2,000,000 in profits on government contracts, made possible by Carter's alleged collusion with the contractor during the several years he was inspector for the government in that district.

Gaynor and Greene fled before they could be arrested by local officers, were discovered in New York city, arrested and arraigned for preliminary examination. They were paroled pending extradition proceedings, which they contested; and when the decision was handed down that they must go to Georgia and plead on the indictments found against them, they again disappeared, forfeiting their bonds.

Having been located by secret service officers in Montreal, extradition proceedings were begun to bring them back to the states, and in the meantime they went to Quebec. While the question as to whether they could be brought back was under discussion they were found in the latter city by the detectives and taken to Montreal. This action caused a bitter legal fight, and a Quebec judge issued a writ of habeas corpus, which was served on the jailer at Montreal, who gave up the prisoners without notifying the extradition tribunal, and they were dispatched back to Quebec.

All efforts to quash the writ of habeas corpus proved fruitless, being flatly denied by Judge Caron, of Quebec, and Gaynor and Greene were soon living in luxury at the palatial Hotel Chateau Fontenac.

The United States government brought the case before the privy council of England, the highest court in that country, and a fierce legal battle followed. On February 8 last, after a seemingly interminable contest, the council rendered its decision favorable to the United States. The decision simply reversed the ruling of Judge Caron and left Greene and Gaynor under the remand as before the Quebec court intervened. Judge Caron, by the way, was severely criticised for his action by the council's formal opinion.

The extradition proceedings in Montreal were then resumed where they had been broken off, and the extradition court promptly found in favor of every legal contention of the American department of justice. This decision is subject to appeal, now pending.

The long delayed trial of Greene and Gaynor before a jury of their peers on the charge of collusion with Carter to defraud the United States government and embezzlement, will add a final sensational chapter to this cause celebre.

Atlanta Surrenders!

The Constitution's headline artist gave Atlantans a distinct shock yesterday.

In bold, insolent type, this startling legend stood out starkly at the head of a page:

"ATLANTA HOISTS SURRENDER FLAG."

If we approved gambling, we would hazard a year's subscription against the first apple-pie of a June bride that a good many local hearts gave an audible thump and a good many ascending cups of coffee halted abruptly as this impertinent epigram flaunted itself at the breakfast table.

But not for long!

With infinite relief the electrified citizen read on further to the effect that the words only referred to the surrender of the cruiser "Atlanta," in her mimic attack on the fortifications of Baltimore.

Only a sham surrender, after all. And even then, there would probably have been a different tale to tell had the cruiser been manned by young men from this city.

The word "surrender" is not contained in Atlanta's lexicon. We have plenty of synonyms for "success," "hustle" and "get there"—and they are in frequent demand. We really don't know the meaning of "surrender"—municipally speaking or otherwise.

And never will!

Why Confederate Reunions?

Louisville has capitulated to the "old brigades," those old men of iron and tenderness, graduates of the blood-encrusted school of the sixties, survivors of an era destined to stand out preeminent in American history. That same enthusiasm that illumined their faces and made strong their hearts in the din of a hundred battles still wraps them in its inspiring mantle; but softened by time and mellowed by healing and affliction, it now spends itself in the sweet melancholy of memories and pride in the joint heritage of a reunited and world-shadowing country—a loving, subdued pride unacquainted with the clamor of words and inadequate phrases.

To the man who asks what joy or consolation these venerable children of battle win from recurring reunions, General Stephen D. Lee, in his opening address, gives a most eloquent and comprehensive reply. Compressing within one paragraph the sentiment of a whole people, it is deserving of close attention from the man who seeks the south's standpoint on this question of reminiscence:

"Sometimes the question is asked: Why reunions? We have no pensions to expect. There is no political preference we can look for. We come together because we love the past, because our lives have been linked together by a great experience, by the richest, deepest experience that has come to any generation of Americans; by a common story so rich in heroism, in sacrifice, in patriotism, that everything else we remember grows cheap when we think of the confederacy. 'Out there is Appomattox,' said Henry W. Grady, 'where the Lord God Almighty laid upon every ragged gray-cap the sword of His imperishable knighthood.' Instead of the gray-caps, I see today only the gray-heads; but the same knighted hearts are beating still. When we meet together, we renew these great memories, these imperishable friendships. The day is not far distant when the burden of our entertainment will no longer require the famous hospitality of a Louisville—when no magnificent auditorium will be needed for the scattered and venerable surpivors; but, as long as our days may be prolonged by reason of strength, let us gather to renew ties of the battle field, and to keep alive the traditions which have made the world so rich in honor."

There are two mighty binders of the hearts and purposes of men—perils and privations shared in common, and high mutual ideals. It matters not that the perils were undergone and the ideals cherished vainly. That fact cannot weaken the strong fraternity between companions in failure; perhaps the sympathy between the victims of the latter is even deeper and more intimate than that which exists between comrades in an enterprise marked by success. The confederate veterans and their reunion typify these observations. Theirs is a bond which grows firmer and more sacred with the onspeeding of time; which gathers fragrance and strength as Death thins the ranks that defied his earlier atacks. They were partners in a great cause and a great struggle absolutely unique in history. Neither they nor the world can ever forget this fact. Nor does the proud memory dim their loyalty to the common flag; rather does it demonstrate those qualities of fidelity and strength without which the achievements of any nation are unmeaning and its highest hopes futile.

In the broad mind of this great country these gatherings need no defense. But it is not amiss to recall what they signify.

GOSSIP AT THE CAPITOL

OTTO VEATCH, now completing a post graduate course at the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed assistant geologist by Professor W. S. Yeates, state geologist of Georgia. Mr. Veatch will come to Georgia within the next few weeks. He takes the place of S. P. Jones, who tendered his resignation some months ago, much to the regret of Professor Yeates and other state house officials.

The new assistant geologist is a native of Missouri. After completing a special course in geology at the university of his state, he went with the United States government survey to Kansas, where he worked in his study on the field for more than a year. Later he entered the University of Wisconsin for a graduate student course, and that course he is just now completing.

He comes to Georgia highly recommended. It is the belief of Professor Yeates that Mr. Veatch will make a valuable assistant in the department of geology.

Election Must Be Ordered.

Attorney General John C. Hart yesterday gave his semi-official decision regarding the wet and dry proposition that has arisen in that portion of Dooly county which is to be formed into a new county.

Senator D. A. R. Crum wanted to know whether it would be necessary to order an election in the new county or whether the new county would inherit the liquor laws of Dooly county. Attorney General Hart replied as follows:

"Senator D. A. R. Crum, Cordele, Ga.—Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your recent communication and note your request that I give 'in an authoritative way' my opinion whether the county to be created out of the southern portion of Dooly county would be 'wet' or 'dry.' You make the further statement that Dooly is now dry under the provisions of the general local option law.

"I do not understand that a new county would partake as a matter of law of the nature, characteristics, or legal status of the county of which it was created. It inherits nothing from the mother, except in this case that it is born of good stock. When born it will begin life with a clean record and must make for itself its own future. It would not do to say because the parent county is 'wet' that the offspring is 'wet,' nor that because the mother is 'dry' her offspring must be likewise. This would lead to absurdities. New counties may be carved from several counties, some wet and some dry, and if the rule is laid down that the new county is to partake of the characteristic in this respect of the old county, it would be impossible of classification. A new county could not be part wet and part dry.

"I am, therefore, of the opinion that a new county would be neither 'wet' nor 'dry' and can only put itself in either of these classifications by a vote of the people within its limits.

"The foregoing is not an official opinion, for I could not give one on this subject, but merely my views as a lawyer, and given as a courteous reply to your inquiry. Yours very truly,

"JOHN C. HART,
"Attorney General."

Cotton Brings 8.81 1-4 Cents.

The state's cotton, which was grown on the prison farm at Milledgeville, yesterday brought the highest price that any large amount of cotton has been sold for in the south this year. The 350 bales brought 8.81 1-4 cents, the aggregate being $15,500.

This announcement was made by Chairman J. S. Turner, of the prison commission, to Captain Goodloe Yancey, the secretary, by wire yesterday afternoon. Chairman Turner went to Milledgeville for the purpose of selling the cotton at auction, but neither he nor any one else supposed that the cotton would bring so gratifying a price.

The cotton that is raised on the prison farm at Milledgeville is, however, of very fine quality. It usually brings more than the market price.

CHANCELLOR HILL REVIEWS WORK OF THE UNIVERSITY

ATHENS, GA., June 15.—(Special.)—At the meeting of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia today, Chancellor Walter B. Hill appeared and made his annual report. It was a comprehensive report and covered the entire work of the university for the past year, the showing made being most excellent.

Among other things Chancellor Hill said in his report:

"This has been a highly prosperous session of the university. The attendance has been the largest in the history of the institution. In the external life of the university three marked events have been the opening and occupation of Terrell hall on the first of February, of the library on the first of May, and the completion of LeConte hall. These evidences of material progress are gratifying, but are only relatively important when compared with the interests involved in the inner life of the university. Respecting the latter, it affords satisfaction to note in the reports of Dean Barrow and President White the statement of faithful and successful work by the teaching corps in Franklin college and in the state college; and to have the testimony by the members of the faculty to the increase in the diligence of the students and in the constancy of their attendance. Few cases of discipline have arisen, and so far as these have called for the administration of discipline, it has proceeded without friction. The visit of the board of trustees to the University of Wisconsin in November was a pleasant, profitable, and important incident of the year. In the law department the wisdom of extending the period of the course of study may be now considered as proved beyond cavil. The school of pharmacy has made a good beginning, and will attract students by the facilities offered. The work of Mr. J. S. Stewart, state agent, has been successful in the direction of increasing attendance and bringing the secondary schools of the state into accredited relations with the university. In the school of agriculture the attendance shows an increase of 115 per cent, and in the effort to reach the adult farmers of the state through the farmers' institutes, Director Jordan reports notable success. The encampment of cadets, including the week in which occurs the holiday, 26th of April, evidences the policy of the board to comply in good faith with the requirement of the law that military tactics shall be efficiently taught in the state college, and the fact that not a single case for discipline occurred during the entire week of the encampment cannot fail to make its due impression upon the people of the state. Great interest has been manifested in debates, and a high degree of excellence has been attained."

The total attendance upon the university and its branches during the year is shown as follows in the report of the chancellor:

The university at Athens, 375; the North Georgia Agricultural college, 200; the School of Technology, 507; the Girls' Normal and Industral college, 360; the State Normal school, 446; the Industrial College for Colored Youth at Savannah, 292; the Medical college at Augusta, 108; the University Summer school at Athens, 403; in practice schools at the State Normal, the Girls' Normal and the negro college, 259, making a grand total of 2,950.

It is recommended in the report that the dean of Franklin college be relieved of some of his teaching duties in order that he may attend more thoroughly to the other duties of his office.

Reference is made to the visit of the trustees last fall to the University of Wisconsin and the good that was gained by that trip.

The work of Mr. Burnet, the new librarian, is highly commended in the report of the chancellor. The law school is reported to be doing fine work, and the wisdom of the change to a two years' course has been demonstrated thoroughly.

The greatest amount of space in the report is devoted to the school of agriculture, and on this subject Chancellor Hill says:

"The total valuation of our buildings and equipment here would not exceed $10,000; and in this connection it will be borne in mind that the Morrill bill, under which money is received from the federal government for the Agricultural and Mechanical college, prohibits the use of any portion of the fund in buildings or the repair thereof. I recommend that at the approaching meeting of the general assembly the emphasis be made in the presentation of the claims of the university to the needs of this department, and that for this purpose the sum of $125,000 should be asked.

"During recent years, the following advances have been made: 1. The setting apart and equipment of a separate building as agricultural hall. 2. The appropriation of seven acres on the campus for experimentation and illustration. 3. The introduction of the one year course. 4. The resumption after a lapse of years, of farmers' institutes. 5. The waiving of all fees, in favor of agricultural students. 6. The offer of a prize for the best essay in agriculture. 7. The purchase of a dairy equipment and practical instruction in animal husbandry. 8. The re-establishment of the three months' winter course. 9. The publication of the nature study leaflets, designed to promote elementary agricultural education. 10. Many substantial improvements at the university farm."

A review of the work done by the farmers' institutes during the year is given. This feature has created much interest and done much good.

Chancellor Hill recommends that the trustees ask the United States government to detail an army officer here to take charge of the military feature of the university. This is caused by the law requiring the surrender of the guns of the cadets to the government or the pursuing of the course recommended by the chancellor. This will probably be done by the trustees. Chancellor Hill reports that the work of State Agent J. S. Stewart has been very effective. One hundred and ninety-one new students have been enrolled this year as a result of his vigorous work, a greater number than at any previous session. The work of Mr. Stewart has so commended itself to the general education board that that body has proposed to ten state universities in the south the securing of such an officer.

A number of matters of detail are dealt with in the concluding part of the chancellor's address. At its conclusion the report was referred to the proper committee.

Birmingham, Ala., June 13.—Fourth Vice President C. H. Ackert, of the Southern railway, arrived in Birmingham tonight accompanied by an architect, who will draw up plans for the new passenger station to be located on Twenty-sixth street between Third and Sixth avenues. It is optional with the local bodies whether this tax shall be a nominal or a prohibitive one.

ROMAN LETTERS FOR JAPAN.

It Is Said That Chinese Characters Will Be Displaced.

San Francisco, June 15.—M. Toyama, of Tokio, a member of the Roman Character Society of Japan, is here. This society is really a government commission, appointed to make a report on the advisability of the adoption of Roman characters in that country. While it is not known when this commission will make its report, M. Toyama says it is the belief of well-informed Japanese that within the next decade Chinese characters, which are now used in Japan, will be replaced by the less complicated Roman letters.

"Roman characters," continued M. Toyama, "are being used by the sovereignty in all of its correspondence."

The sovereignty includes in its membership many government officials and notables of the Japanese empire.

ASK FARMERS TO REJOICE.

President Harvie Jordan Requests Cotton Planters To Celebrate on July 4.

If the request of President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, is heeded the farmers of the south who grow cotton will hold in their respective counties grand celebrations on the 4th of July as a sort of general thanksgiving and rejoicing because of the good work done in reducing the cotton acreage this year.

In his request President Jordan says every report shows that the cotton acreage in the south has been reduced, making it certain that there will not be an abnormally large crop this year. He says the movement will prevent low prices and has saved the south $50,000,000 He predicts 10 cent cotton next fall.

President Jordan then speaks of the Declaration of Independence as an act of freedom. The 4th of July, he says, is a day when the people of this country celebrate the throwing off of the yoke of foreign domination. He argues that the armers of the south should celebrate their freedom and independence from foreign combinations which have dictated the price of cotton. He asks that the farmers of the south hold meetings in their respective counties on the 4th of July and celebrate their freedom and rejoice that low price cotton will not be known this year. He wants strong resolutions of patriotism passed at the meetings.

Will Assume Pastorate of the West End Christian Church.

Rev. Bernard P. Smith, who has recently accepted the pastorate of the West End Christian church, will reach Atlanta today to take up his work and will be greeted by the leading members of his new congregation.

Dr. Smith has been pastor of a church in Rochester, N. Y., since 1903 and comes from that city to Atlanta. He is a Virginian by birth and his frist pastorate was a church at Charlottesville, Va., where he endeared himself to his congregation and did a work that has been a continual tribute to his energy and ability.

Dr. Smith was educated at Milligan college, Tennessee, and Roanoke college, Virginia, where he graduated with first distinction in 1896. He was a post graduate student in the Universty of Virginia and a special student in the Theological seminary at Rochester, N. Y. He is well qualified in every way for the work in the Atlanta church and comes with the highest praise of his former congregations.

During his work in Charlottesville, Va., a handsome new building was erected and the work enlarged and strengthened in many ways. He endeared himself to his congregation and to the community and every possible effort was made to retain him.

In Rochester Dr. Smith's work was equally successful. The people were lavish in their praise of his work and in their expression of esteem and regret at his departure. A remarkable testimonial was presented to him at his farewell reception and he and Mrs. Smith were the recipients of many handsome gifts.

Mr. Smith is married and has one child. His wife has been popular wherever he has been located and has proved a valuable helper in his work.

At the West End Christian church Sunday morning Dr. Smith will deliver his first sermon to his new congregation, taking as his subject "The Pastor's Prayer." In the evening his subject will be "Hope and Inheritance."

The members of the West End Christian church are looking forward with eagerness to Dr. Smith's arrival and the indications are that his work here will be as successful as it has been in other cities.

DEFT FINGERS STOLE GOODS

Recorder Broyles' Court Resembled a Department Store Yesterday.

The recorder's court resembled a department store in certain respects yesterday and that fact was noted by many of the regular attendants of the police matinee.

John Young, a negro boy, aged about eighteen years, had his clothes tried on him yesterda afternoon in order to fix suspicion on him for a burglary committed a week ago.

W. H. Lemmond and his family live at 239 East Georgia avenue. One June 8 somebody broke into his house and stole two revolvers, making his exit by the kitchen window in the rear of the house. It was found that the burglar had left his collar and his coat, in which latter was a purchase ticket for a bill of goods bought the day previous.

Officers Coker and Dorsett were detailed on the case, and they captured John Young yesterda morning. It happened that the purchase ticket found in the coat corresponded to a bill of goods which John Young had bought for his cousin, Mr. Lemmond's cook, and she told the officers so.

In order to prove to the recorder that Young was the burglar, the officers put the collar and the coat on the prisoner and they fitted him perfectly. In the face of the evidence, Young was bound over for burglary, bond being fixed at $300.

Mattie Davis, a white woman ,about fifty years old, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Call Officer Maddox for larceny, the specific charge being that she had stolen a hammock from the front porch of a residence on Courtland avenue.

Thursday night, Mrs. Bohnfeld, the police matron, says she noticed that the woman was wearing a long cape, and asked why she did not take it off, as it was so hot.

"The woman," said Mrs. Bohnfeld, "insisted on wearing the cape, and I began to suspect that she had a bundle under it. She had been drinking, and raised so much fuss I had to put her in a cell.

"I had to pass by the cell later in the night, and as I did so I noticed that she was busily engaged in wrapping up two bundles, one of some white material and the other of black. I called the attention of the turnkey to the fact, and he told me to search her.

"I found in one of her stockings about 5 yards of black china silk, which I suppose is worth about 75 cents a yard. In the other stocking were about 25 yards of lace and a dozen pair of spectacles."

All this material was exhibited in the recorder's court yesterday. On account of the woman's daughters, who were represented to be good and industrious, the recorder turned the woman loose, but kept the case open against her.

STATE IS THE WINNER IN BIG BACK TAX CASE

Judge Pendleton Denies the Injunction Sought by the Georgia Railroad.

THE AMOUNT INVOLVED IS ALMOST $1,000,000

Central and Georgia Roads Subject to Levy by Sheriff—Cases Have Been Bitterly Fought and Will Go to the Supreme Court.

The property of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company located in Atlanta, upon which levy was made by Sheriff Nelms, of Fulton county, in order that Georgia's claim for taxes, present and back, amounting to $125,974, might be collected are again subject to Sheriff Nelms' auctioneer hammer, unless new legal steps are taken at once by the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company.

Though the facts are well known to the reading public generally, the case is one full of interest to every Georgian, whether he be a tax payer or not.

New life was infused in the litigation yesterday morning when Hon. John T. Pendleton, judge of the superior court, handed down his decision denying the injunction which the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company had requested immediately after Sheriff Nelms had made his levy upon the property of the company, valuable real estate in Atlanta. The denial of the injunction was engrossed by Judge Pendleton late Wednesday night, but was not passed to the clerk for record until yesterday morning.

It will be remembered that some five years ago—to be more exact, in 1901—Comptroller General Wright, while examining the reports of certain Georgia lines, found that the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company held 15,000 shares, or one-half of the capital stock of the Western Railway of Alabama, while the other half of this stock was the property of the Central of Georgia railway. Conferring with the then attorney general, Comptroller General Wright made a demand upon the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company and upon the Central of Georgia Railway Company for taxes, but both companies declined to pay. Then Comptroller Wright caused to be issued fi. fas., one against each road, both of which were passed down to the sheriff of Fulton county, by whom a levy was made on the depot, warehouse and other buildings of the railroad companies. The defendant companies entered the fight with zeal and got both cases into the United States court, first before Judge Newman, then through the United States court of appeals at New Orleans, and eventually before the supreme court of the United States at Washington. The roads won before Judge Newman and again in New Orleans, but when the litigation was taken up at Washington Comptroller General Wright was victor. The litigation required years to reach an end in the United States court and then back to Georgia the question again came for litigation.

Fight in State Courts.

Some months ago, after the United States courts had had their innings, Comptroller General Wright sent the fi. fas. again to Sheriff Nelms, of Fulton, for collection. Payment was again refused by the railroad companies and a levy was made upon the property of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company by Deputy Sheriff Shropshire. It was then that the roads applied to the Fulton superior court for an order restraining Fulton's sheriff from selling the property. The injunction was granted temporarily, and since that temporary victory for the roads the points at issue have been argued at length before Judge Pendleton, of the Fulton superior court. Some of the most successful lawyers of the state have been heard in the argument, and Judge Pendleton's decision has been awaited with decided interest. In that decision, filed for record yesterday, appears this the final entry:

"After hearing the evidence and argument of counsel, it is ordered that the within application for injunction be denied."

It is now up to the defendant road, the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, to either pay up, submit to sale by the sheriff or to appeal the case to some higher court. The decision in the Central of Georgia railway case, a twin case to the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, is the same by Judge Pendleton.

Since the inception of the case some of the most prominent men of the state have had a hand in it. Governor Terrell was attorney general for the state when the litigation began, and it was upon his opinion that the comptroller general demanded the state taxes from both of these roads on their Western of Alabama stock. After considerable correspondence both roads declined to pay these taxes on the ground that this stock was not taxable in Georgia. Whereupon the comptroller general issued executions for state taxes for the year 1901 against the Georgia and Central of Georgia and levy was made upon property belonging to these roads located in Atlanta.

History of the Case.

Both the Georgia and Central of Georgia then filed bills for injunction in the United States court before Judge Newman to prevent the state from enforcing these tax executions and holding that under the laws and constitution of Georgia no taxes could be collected on this Western of Alabama stock. In order to get the matter before the United States court the suit for the Georgia road was brought by the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line, lessees of the Georgia and non-residents. The suit in behalf of the Central of Georgia was brought by the Central Trust Company of New York, trustees for the Central's collateral trust bond issue of $4,880,000, for which this road's 15,000 shares of Western of Alabama stock were pledged as part of the security.

It was agreed between the attorneys that the Georgia railroad case should be tried first, and that the Central's case should await its determination. The Central's case was on somewhat of a different basis from the other because its portion of the stock had been pledged in New York as collateral for a bond issue, and it was maintained that the ownership was not in the Central; while on the other hand the Georgia railroad had a clear title to its share of this property.

The Georgia railroad's injunction suit was accordingly tried first before Judge Newman, who rendered a decision adverse to the state, holding that this Western of Alabama stock could not be taxed in Georgia. The state was represented in this hearing by Governor Terrell, then attorney general.

An appeal was taken to the United States circuit court of appeals at New Orleans, where Judge Newman's decision was affirmed. Governor Terrell had at that time resigned to begin his campaign for governor, nevertheless he accompanied the new attorney general, Hon. Boykin Wright, of Augusta, to New Orleans and both of them represented the state on this occasion.

From the circuit court of appeals the case was carried to the supreme court of the United States, where the state was represented by Attorney General Joh C. Hart and Hon. Boykin Wright, who now represents Richmond county and the city of Augusta in the litigation over these taxes.

The decision of the United States supreme court reversing Judge Newman and the circuit court of appeals and declaring stock in foreign corporations taxable under the Georgia constitution and laws, rendered last year, is familiar history. The supreme court went even further than this, holding that while the state had full power and authority to tax stock in foreign corporations, it constituted no discrimination or classification of property for purposes of taxation for the state to pursue a different policy with regard to local corporations and to tax their property direct instead of taxing their stock or both their property and stock.

Based upon this decision the comptroller general assessed the value of this stock for each year since it came into the possession of these Georgia corporations and demanded from the Georgia railroad $125,975 state taxes.

Payment of these taxes was declined and execution issued and levied upon the Georgia railroad's freight depot and ware houses in Atlanta.

Thereupon the Georgia railroad brought suit for injunction in Fulton superior court against the comptroller general and the sheriff who made the levy, making a state case out of it after it had been decided by the United States courts.

In the meantime the Central of Georgia dismissed its bill before Judge Newman, which had been brought in the name of the Central Trust Company, and filed a bill in its own name in Fulton superior court similar to that filed by the Georgia railroad.

Both cases were argued before Judge John T. Pendleton in April, shortly after he went upon the bench, and it is in these cases that his decision has just been rendered.

ORPHAN BOYS IN CONCERT.

Band of Georgia Industrial Home To Appear at Baptist Tabernacle Tonight.

The Orphan Boys' band of the Georgia Industrial home, of Macon, will give a concert at the Baptist tabernacle tonight, and the indications are that the event will prove a success in every way. The band is one of the best known musical organizations in the south, and the object for which it gives this concert is one worthy of patronage.

Former Governor W. J. Northen, in speaking of the band yesterday, said:

"I have received a letter from the general manager of the Georgia Industrial home, located at Macon, asking me to call the attention of a generous and charitable public to the concert to be given by the boys from that institution at the Baptist tabernacle Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

"I cheerfully comply with this request, as I do not know a more deserving institution of the kind at the south.

"I have had occasion to send boys to the home, and I have somewhat intimate knowledge of the care and training given them, as well as the helpful results that have come to them in after life.

"It would be a calamity if this training school should fail of sufficient and hearty support and a great hindrance to its good work if it should become, to any extent, financially embarrassed.

"The receipts from the concert are intended to aid the institution in its worthy work, and the money is to be earned by an effort at self-help on the part of the boys.

"Those of us who cannot attend, can, at least, purchase tickets to the entertainment."

BULLETIN FROM DOG POUND.

Dogs Caught, Redeemed by Owners, "Put Away" with Hammer and Still on Hand.

The city clerk got down to dog statistics yesterday morning and after figuring for half an hour he issued a bulletin for the dog catcher.

According to the clerk's figures there have been caught in Atlanta since the dog wagon started on its summer tour 348 canies, including every type, from a mastiff to a bench-legged fice.

Of the 348 dogs caught 102 are still in the pound, 12 were redeemed after they were caught and 234 were "put away" by tapping them on the head with a sledge hammer.

Yesterday morning was a dog-catching record-breaker, for the dog wagon hauled forty-nine dogs to the pound in four hours.

"We are killing the dogs by the hammer method," stated the city clerk, "instead of giving them poison, because it is more human. We think it sage (not sausage) to kill them the way we are doing."

SWIMMING POOL A LIVE ISSUE

Jurisdiction of Council Committe is Questioned.

Whether or not Atlanta shall have a swimming pool for negroes in the fourth ward became one of the liveliest issues at the city hall that has disturbed that borough in a long while when the committee on manufactures, statistics, freight rates and transportation met yesterday morning. There was nothing disturbing in the question per se, but what caused the June air about the city hall to sizzle was a hot debate as to how came a swimming pool to get drained off on a committee which was appointed to look after manufactories, "figgers," railroad rates and transportations.

In the burning words of the chairman of the committee, Alderman Girardeau: "How dared such a matter to come before a committee that has only its dignity to fall back upon? Why should a committee that has more names than members, and all of them portentious and grandiloquent, be made to flounder around in a negro swimming pool?"

It was this impassioned address of the chairman that caused the meeting to become sensational.

Councilman Quillian took the floor and his voice trembled and vibrated as he said slowly and with stirring emphasis:

"This committee was appointed the first of the year, six months ago, and this petition for a negro swimming pool is the first matter it has been called upon to consider. I had hoped we would go through the year without breaking our record; but here we are confronted with a swimming pool for Darktown. Has a negro swimming pool got anything to do with manufactures? Has it anything to do with statistics? Has it anything to do with freight rates? Has it anything to do with transportation? I pause for a reply, while I relight my cheroot."

"I demand that Acting Mayor Harwell be asked to appear before this committee and explain," exclaimed Alderman Girardeau excitedly as he lit his cigar from Councilman Quillian's cheroot and threw the latter into a cuspidor.

The acting mayor was sent for and when he appeared it was plain to see that he was struggling to keep down his pent up feelings.

He was asked why such a committee as was then in session should be called upon to deliberate over a negro swimming pool.

"Sink or swim," he said, "I am here to stand by the acts of myself, and to uphold my official acts. I have just communicated with the city attorney and he tells me that the committee on manufacturers, statistics, freight rates and transportation can be called upon to act on any old thing."

"But this petition for a negro swimming pool is a new thing," suggested Councilman Quillian.

"And, furthermore," continued the acting mayor, without noticing the interruption, "I hold that this committee is the right one for a swimming pool petition."

"Since you have made such a bold assertion," said Alderman Girardeau, as he looked the acting mayor straight in the face without thinking of the game of finch, "this committee will demand a more lucid explanation."

"I hold," said the mayor that a swimming petition comes under the head of transportation, for the negroes, when they get in the cold water, will be transported with joy."

"I move that the petition go to the sanitary committee, where it belongs," cried out a member of the committee at the foot of the table.

But the acting mayor had won the day and the committee on manufacturers, statistics, freight rates and transportation, acted on the petition for a negro swimming pool on Bedford Place, in Darktown, and promptly turned it down.

Turner-Brown.

THE marriage of Miss Lucile Turner and Mr. Luke W. Brown was one of the most interesting of the June weddings. Miss Turner is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Turner, and is a young woman of beauty and fine character, while Mr. Brown is one of Atlanta's most estimable young business men.

The marriage took place at Trinity church, at 8:30 o'clock, on Wednesday evening, the church being very prettily decorated for the occasion.

The bride's toilet was white silk crepe de chine, beautifully embellished in silk hand-made applique. The bride carried a bouquet of bride roses in shower effect.

The bridesmaids were Miss Bernice Turner, sister of the bride, and Miss Alberta Orr, cousin of the bride. They were dressed in soft white organdies and carried bouquets of sweet peas.

Two little flower girls (Misses Melba and Wynette Manning) preceded the bridal party, one dressed in pink and one in blue, scattering flowers along the way.

A programme of soft music was rendered during the ceremony by Miss Alma Hardeman, Lohengrin's wedding march being the processional.

Mr. Hampton Brown, of Birmingham, brother of the groom, was best man. The other attendants were Messrs. E. A. Brown, Birmingham; J. E. P. Stevens, Macon, Ga.; Bruce Johnson, Macon, and Clayton Orr, Atlanta.

The bride was given away by her brother, Robert C. Turner. The bridal party was entertained very informally at the residence of the bride, after which the bride and groom left for Charleston and Sumter, S. C.

After their return, they will be at home to their friends at No. 139 Washington street.

Morris-Corey.

A WEDDING of unusual interest occurred Wednesday night at the home of Mr. B. H. Hartsfield, 236 Park avenue. The contracting parties were Mr. George E. Corey, of Cardenas, Cuba, and Miss Myrtle E. Morris, of Cave Spring, Ga. Dr. W. W. Landrum, of the First Baptist church, officiated.

Miss Morris is a deaf-mute missionary to the deaf mutes on the island of Cuba, sent out by the mission board of the Southern Baptist convention. She is the daughter of Mr. Henry S. Morris, one of the deaf-mute teachers in the institute at Cave Spring.

The ceremony was beautifully simple as Dr. Landrum uttered it. He was assisted in performing the ceremony by a teacher of the deaf mutes, who repeated all his words in the finger language so that the bride and her deaf-mute friends would understand fully what was said. Mrs. Corey will resume her missionary work of gathering the deaf mutes of Cuba and establishing a school in Havana, as was contemplated by the Baptists in sending her there.

Mr. Corey is not a deaf mute. He is a wealthy planter, living at Cardenas, Cuba, and is considered quite fortunate in having won in his beautiful young bride a woman of fine traits of character, universally loved wherever she is known.

The bride was beautifully attired in a light traveling suit. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas, tied with white ribbons in love knots.

The bridal party was showered with rice and good wishes as they left the home. Mr. and Mrs. Corey returned at once to Cuba.

Collar Shower.

MRS. A. R. COLCORD entertained yesterday afternoon for Miss Pauline Wagner, one of the June brides, and the party was a delightful one, about sixty guests enjoying the occasion.

Wedding bells were a graceful suggestion which prevailed in every detail of decoration, and green and white were the predominating colors. Delicious refreshments were served and a graceful feature of the afternoon was the writing of bridal telegrams to the bride, the blanks on which they were written being ornamented with wedding bells.

Before the party was over, the bride stood under a large bell, which had been filled with many collars, souvenirs from the guests assembled, and they were showered upon her.

Mrs. Colcord, the handsome hostess, received in a white Paris mulle gown trimmed with lace, and she was assisted by her sister, Miss Bacon, of Eastman, and Mrs. C. A. Thompson, of Anniston. At the punch bowl, Misses Julia Rosser, Mildred Spratling and Carrie Willingham presided, and there were several married ladies who assisted in entertaining.

Those present were Misses Alma Pope, Rushie Ray, Susie May Pope, Elizabeth Adair, Misses Brandon, Nettie Mills, Carrie Sassnett, Mrs. Will Heath, Misses Nannie Stephens, Alice May Aushton, Margaret Brown, Misses Battle, Eva Mathews, Mamie Culberson, Nellie Belle Campbell, Jack Whitcomb, Lucile Paschal, May Archer, Aline Almond, Nellie Nix, Mrs. Marbut, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. Cliff Humphreys, Miss Lillian Harris, Miss Mildred Harris, Miss Nell O'Donnelly, Misses Edith Cofield, Wilma Heifner, Leonie Heifner, Misses Dennis, Lou T. Hook, Grace Abernathy, Mamie Parish, Francis May Burks, Eugenia Harper, Lelia Bacon, Louise Norman, Frances King, of Newnan, and Annette Moore.

Al Fresco Party.

MISS GLADYS LEVIN was the lovely young hostess at an al fresco party given last evening in compliment to her guest, Miss Madge Voss, of Danville, a., and to Mr. Hetherington, of Atchison, Kans.

The lawn was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns and during the evening Wurm's orchestra furnished a delightful musical programme.

Ices and punch were served and the occasion was one of the prettiest and most enjoyable affairs of the week.

Miss Levin received her guests in a gown of white silk mull over lavender, and Miss Voss was much admired in a gown of white mull over pink.

The invited guests included Miss Elise Landrum, Miss Mary Brisco, Miss Nina Gentry, Miss Emma Williams, Miss Claudia Patterson, Miss Alline Patterson, Miss Hallie Ellis, Miss Sarah Collier, Miss Sallie Cobb Johnson, Miss Lula Callaway, Miss Grace Callaway, Miss Annie Mae Thorne, Miss Floy Felker, Miss Maud Johnson, Miss Josie Lee Williford, Miss Florence Dennis, Miss Lucile Dennis, Miss Florence Hobbs, Miss Kate Waldo, Miss Alice Steele, Miss Hattie Mae High, Miss Adair Williamson, Miss Lottie Austin, Miss Louise Hawkins, Miss Edna McCandless, Miss Susie May Pope, Miss Rushie Ray, Miss Margaret Ladson, Miss Leone Ladson, Miss Gertrude Lipphart, Miss Samuella Whitman, Miss Lottie Peck Wylie, Miss Mary Reid, Miss Cora Hemphill, Miss Margaret Hemphill, Miss Janie Thornton, Miss Zula Adkins, Mr. Stanley Mathewson, Mr. Martin, Mr. Frank Adair, Mr. Tom Gentry, Mr. Henry Covington, Mr. Stanley Wimbish, Mr. Ray Powers, Mr. Oliver Bloodworth, Mr. George Winship, Mr. Teddy Raht, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Henry Scales, Mr. Harry Fisher, Mr. Neil McGuire, Mr. Howard Evans, Mr. Jack Keene, Mr. Wycliff Goldsmith, Mr. Lamar Collier, Mr. Louis Leonard, Mr. Eugene Haynes, Mr. Robert Gregg, Mr. John Maddox, Mr. Ronald Ransom, Mr. Frampton Ellis, Mr. Richard Thornton, Mr. Percy Taylor, Mr. Strother Fleming, Mr. Ormond Smith, Mr. George Harrison, Mr. Harvey Gregory, Mr. Victor Smith, Mr. George Lowndes, Mr. Albert Thornton, Mr. Roger Reese, Mr. Lamar Hill, Mr. Tehodore Geysler, Mr. Hamilton Block, Mr. Fort, Mr. Allan Morris, Mr. Frank Farley, Mr. Horton Matthewson, Mr. Stanley Matthewson.

Miss Susie May Pope will entertain Miss Voss at a bowling party next week and there are a number of other affairs to be given her.

Martin-Brewer.

A BEAUTIFUL June wedding was that of Miss Louise Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Martin, and Mr. Edward Dryer Brewer, which was solemnized last evening at half-past 8 o'clock at Trinity church. Dr. H. S. Bradley officiated in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

The decorations at both the church and house were quite elaborate, and the color scheme of pink and white was prettily carried out in every detail. Quantities of roses, peas, combined with palms and ferns, were the flowers used, and also formed the bouquets of the bridesmaids.

Miss Mary Clarke Russell was maid of honor and Mr. Pierce Ingle, best man. The other attendants were Miss Julia Neville, Miss Berma Daniell, Miss Katherine Akers, Miss Rebie Workman, Miss Lelia Brandon, Miss Bessie Burkett, bridesmaids; Mr. Walpole Brewer, Mr. Marvin Hardwick, Mr. Herbert West, Mr. Wilford Knapp, of Savannan; Mr. Lowesston Harris and Dr. Hugh Lokey.

The attendants entered singly down the two aisles of the church and formed a half circle about the altar, where they made a lovely tableau as the marriage service was read.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. A. W. Martin, being immediately preceded by the maid of honor, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man.

The bride was unusually handsome in her wedding gown of white chiffon with trimmings of duchesse lace, her only ornament being a crescent of pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pink chiffon, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white, with pink satin girdles, and slippers and gloves of pink. They carried bouquets of pink roses tied with streamers of pink mulle.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at which the bridal party, the relatives and a few intimate friends were entertained.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a dainty gown of cream silk mull and lace.

Among those from out of town who were present were: Mrs. G. B. Hutt, of Talledega, Ala., mother of the groom; Miss Mary Lou Dickson, of Dallas, Texas, and Mrs. H. E. Martin, of Athens.

An unusually large number of presents were received, among the handsomest being a chest of silver.

After the wedding trip east, Mr. Brewer and his bride will return to Atlanta, where they will make their home at 141 Washington street.

Manley-Savage.

A QUIET home wedding was that of Miss Lizzie Manley and Mr. James Savage, which was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. N. Snow, at the home of the bride's father, 573 Georgia avenue, after which the young couple left for a visit to Tallulah Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. J. T. Manley and a niece of former Chief of Police Manley. Mr. Savage is well known in Atlanta, holding a responsible position in the business world.

Driver-Lewis.

AN interesting wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Maggie E. Driver and Mr. Thomas Lewis, which took place at 2:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. S. Driver, 10 Pulliam street.

Rev. J. W. Snow officiated in the presence of a few friends and relatives. After the ceremony Mr. Lewis and his bride left for a short visit to Tallulah Falls.

To Miss Flynn.

MRS. JAMES WYLIE POPE was hostess at a beautiful luncheon for Miss Madge Flynn, one of the June brides, the party of twelve, a congenial one, enjoying to the fullest Mrs. Pope's hospitality.

The table centerpiece of pink sweet peas and the place cards were hand-painted bridal slippers with lilies of the valley in the bows. Dainty souvenirs for each of the guests were Japanese fans, except for the bride, at whose place was a lace fan, and the ices repeated the bridal slipper idea. The menu was an elaborate and delicious one.

Mrs. Pope, the bright and lovely hostess, received in a lingerie waist of white silk and a skirt of white voile, and Miss Flynn wore a cream embroidered batiste gown with cherry colored girdle.

Mrs. Pope's guest were Misses Madge Flynn, Kate and May O'Brien, Nell O'Donnelly, Mary McGuire, Katherine Lovette, Anne Wallace, Lillian Flynn, Louise Dooly, Edna Pope and Mrs. J. I. Lowry.

To Miss Stokes.

MISS FLORENCE STOKES entertained delightfully at cards yesterday morning at her home in Decatur for Miss Mae Stokes, one of the June brides.

The color combination of yellow and white was prettily carried out, and the score cards were pen and ink sketches of girl's heads by the sister of the hostess, Miss Julia Stokes. Miss Lucy Fewell won the prize, a fern, which she presented to the guest of honor.

A delicious luncheon was served, and afterwards the bride was showered with handkerchiefs. These dainty gifts were encased in a large bell made of daisies, from which white and yellow ribbons hung, each bearing a tiny picture of the bride-elect and they were souvenirs of the occasion, the ribbons being pulled at a signal, and the handkerchiefs released.

Miss Stokes' guests were the Misses Fewell, the Misses McWhirter, Misses May Rafferty, Smith, Holder, Van Epps, Colice, Margaret Stokes, Estelle Stokes, Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. R. M. Stokes, Mrs. W. J. Riordan, Misses Mary and Julia Preston, Minnie Stokes, Blanche May, Williams and others.

Miss Stokes received on the porch, which was invitingly arranged as a summer parlor, and she wore a pink flowered organdie. The guest of honor was handsome in white silk mull.

Yancey-Fuller.

THE marriage of Miss Lucy Dillingham Yancey and Mr. Joseph Warren Fuller was solemnized yesterday, June 15, at the home of the bride, in Umatilla, Fla. Mr. Fuller is well known in Atlanta, and the announcement of his marriage will be received with interest.

O'NEAL-MATTHEWS.

Thomaston, Ga., June 15.—(Special.)—One of the most interesting social events of the season was the marriage of Miss Bessie Birch Matthews and Mr. Maston Emmett O'Neall, of Bainbridge, which was solemnized at the home of the bride June 14, at noon.

The Mendelssohn wedding march was played by Miss Louise Matthews, a sister of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Mr. S. R. England, of Sparta, while Angel's Serenade was being played.

The handsome reception rooms were artistically decorated with ferns, palms and potted plants. The bride carried an exquisite shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and lace fern.

An informal reception was held, after which the bride and groom left for their home in Bainbridge.

Mr. O'Neal is a leading lawyer in his home city and the only regret is that he takes his bride from her old home, where she has been the center of attraction on account of her personal magnetism and her unusual musical talent.

The out-of-town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. S. R. England, Sparta, Ga.; Miss Martha O'Hara, Greenville, Ga.; Miss Almena Coleman, New Market, S. C.; Miss Luella O'Neal, Bainbridge, Ga.; Miss Rhoda Nunnally, Monroe, Ga.; Mr. Lamar O'Neoll, Bainbridge, Ga.; Judge and Mrs. W. N. Harrell, Bainbridge, Ga.; Captain John D. THEATERS.

The Casino.

There is increased interest in the Edwards production at the Casino, and the theater goers who have left show ideas out of their heads for the last two or three days suddenly realize that they had almost let a real treat slip away.

Walter Edwards is an actor. He is clever and he is versatile. And in the leading role of "The Taming of the Shrew" he has eclipsed his very best efforts. And his company is superior to any that he has ever introduced in Atlanta. Miss Adora Andrews, who plays the opposite to the handsome leading man, has demonstrated her ability. The part she is playing is not an easy one. It requires great talent and great ability, and in these qualifications the young woman is abundantly supplied.

The attraction is one worthy of the best patronage, and there will be large gatherings tonight and the balance of the eengagement.

An attraction of unusual merit is promised for next week at the Casino in the engagement of the A. G. Delamater Musical Comedy Company, who will present the latest musical comedy success, entitled "Mlle. 'Awkins." The company includes such prime funmakers, singers and comedians as Amy Lee, John L. Kearney, Nettie Black, Dan Moyles, Caroline Heustis, Osborne Clemson, Bert Merkert, Eva Butler, the Barrett sisters, and a beauty chorus.

"Mlle. 'Awkins" comes with the prestige of great success in Richmond, Norfolk, Philadelphia and Atlantic City and local theater goers may expect for next week a bright, snappy and up-to-date musical comedy, with good music, pretty girls, charming costumes and a splendid entertainment throughout.

The advance sale of seats will commence this morning at the box office of the Bijou, and from present indications the capacity of the popular Casino will be tested Monday night for the opening performance.

BELDAME CROWNED QUEEN OF THE TURF

She Is the Second Mare to Capture Classic Suburban Handicap.

KNOWING ONES PICKED DELHI TO WIN CLASSIC

But a Lot of Money Was Placed on Beldame at 3 to 1—She Won the Race Almost Without Being Extended by Rider.

New York, June 15.—Beldame was crowned queen of the American turf when she won the twenty-second Suburban handicap this afternoon at Sheepshead bay. She was the second mare to capture the classic. The grand 4-year-old daughter of Octagon and Belladonna, wearing the scarlet jacket of August Belmont, chairman of the jockey club, lowered the colors of James R. Keene's Delhi almost without being extended, until near the end of the mile and one-quarter journey. Delhi was the public favorite at 2½ to 1, but the winner was heavily played around 3 to 1.

Delhi Off in Front.

The favorite shot away in front at the start and Beldame dogged his steps like a shadow throughout the first mile. Then he lagged and the Belmont colors flashed to the front. Delhi's fate was quickly settled, and he fell back to the stuck. First Mason, in a nice position all the way, slipped into second place, but was passed in the last few jumps by Proper. Beldame's victory was comparatively an easy one, after Delhi had been disposed of. Jockey O'Neil distinguished himself by winning four races, one of which was the Suburban.

A feature of the day at the track was a short-lived strike by the bookmakers holding membership in the Metropolitan Turf Association for the restoration of their exclusive privileges.

No concession was made, and they finally did business as usual.

Today, as always, since the Suburban was inaugurated in 1884, a great crowd gathered at Sheepshead, the favored metropolitan track. The grand stand was filled and the lower field stand was jammed. The weather was perfect.

Because of his fine race in the Brooklyn handicap, Delhi was favored by, at least, half the crowd. Thousands upon thousands of dollars went into the betting arena, and the Ben Brush colt was quickly backed from threes to 2½.

Meanwhile, the Belmont candidate was loyally supported. Proper also was heavily played.

Little Trouble at Post.

There was but little trouble at the post, the field having been reduced to eleven horses by the withdrawal of Grasiallo. Delhi jumped into the lead at the start, with Beldame at his heels, and Adbell close behind. They passed the first quarter post in front of the grand stand in that order, with the remaining contestants close up. Delhi quickly opened up a gap of two lengths and held it throughout the first mile, but he was unable to shake off Beldame. Adbell and Jacquin ran side by side in third place around the turn and down the back stretch, where a fine spectacle of the racers was presented from the grand stand. As Delhi swung around the bend and into the wide stretch, Beldame drew up and passed him. The Ben Brush colt relaxed his efforts once the mare came alongside, and he fell back hopelessly beaten. Beldame's burst of speed through the stretch was well timed, and none of the others got within a length and a half in the last stage of the race. First Mason moved up, and, with Proper at his side, Jacquin closed behind and passed the favorite. As in all his races the Jennings colt came through the last furlong with a great rush and secured second money. First Mason was only a length behind, in third place, after having run an exceedingly good race from the rear.

SPARKS TO HAVE A CHANCE

He Was Wired a Ticket to Atlanta by the Local Club Yesterday Afternoon.

The young man named Sparks, who does not have to pitch for a living, will have a chance in the near future to show just how good he is.

Yesterday, Business Manager Bernard Broyles wired him a ticket to Atlanta, informing him that he was expected to report at once if at all. The truth of the matter is, that Sparks is not especially needed and will have to show the local owners and Manager Jordan that he can deliver the goods without fail before any decision is made in his case.

It is believed that he will report at once, since it is known that he is anxious to get to work. Under present conditions he is unable to play in organized company, owing to the fact that he is under suspension.

MORE HARD LUCK FOR DALE GEAR

Hurley and Johnson Hurt and the Travelers Lost Game.

Birmingham, Ala., June 15.—Errors, hits and accidents combined today's game—the Barons took advantage of all. Hurley was hurt on a slide. Gear and Johnson ran together; the latter had his leg badly sprained and will not be in the game for a week or more. Four hits and three errors netted six runs in the first inning and cinched the game. Score:

Games Played Today.

New Orleans in Atlanta.
Shreveport in Nashville.
Memphis in Montgomery.
Little Rock in Birmingham.

The Atlanta batters were helpless before the magic of Kid Dygert's curves yesterday afternoon, while the Pelicans, by hits and errors on the part of the Atlanta team, sent six runs across the plate, winning with ease.

Score: New Orleans 6, Atlanta 0.

The score was the same as in the game Red Fisher pitched some time ago, but the locals were more like live dummies yesterday afternoon than they were the day Red Fisher toyed and played with them for nine long innings.

Dygert was in great shape yesterday, and the way he fooled the Firecrackers was a thing of joy forever. There were some few New Orleans admirers in the grand stand and the bleachers who let themselves out at the proper Pelican moments, and there were others who rooted for the visitors on general principles, believing it to be a bad thing to offer any kind of encouragement to the home club.

Charles Smith was master of the situation for six innings, but in the seventh suffered heart failure from a succession of safe smashes to unoccupied territory, and also from the hits chalked up against him, which looked as much errors of Atlanta fielders as safe ones.

But every possible ball was called a hit yesterday, and even the combined total did not number but six.

Queer Decision by Umpire.

In the second inning Umpire Pfeninger was guilty of another of those queer decisions at variance with baseball rules, which have so greatly perplexed fans and players alike these days.

With two out, Williams sent out a long drive to right center, on which McCay and Winters collided, the call for the ball being made by neither of the two men.

While the two outfielders were sitting on the ground in a half-dazed state, staring and also glaring at each other, the runner improved the shining hours to make a try at third base. One of the outfielders recovered in time to take the ball and head him off at third, where Krug touched the Pelican, Otto sliding into third.

Here Pfeninger sprang his riddle. Unriddle it, those who may: "The man on third must go back to second, because I called time when the two outfielders collided," was the substance of his remarks. Who ever heard of such a ruling before? Nobody in this or any other state where baseball is the rage.

Frank and his players, and Jordan and his players gathered around the unfortunate judge of play and made life a burden for him. Finally Pfeninger called Williams out at third, because Frank refused to send him back to second. There are some queer angles in baseball yet, it would seem, and lawmakers outside of the big leagues.

The unfortunate row about this decision dropped a damper over the crowd, and for two or three innings everybody kept quiet trying to figure out that play.

The time has come for a finish to this kicking business, which hurts the game more than losing, and losing will hurt enough in Atlanta. It is up to Kavanaugh to get a few competent umpires in the league.

How the Game Was Won.

It is a sad, sad story to tell how the Pelicans won and the Firecrackers lost.

The Firecrackers were completely at the mercy of Dygert, two of them reaching first by hits and two by bases on balls. Crozier and Winters took the hits.

New Orleans scored one run in the sixth inning. Hahn, the Pelican crack hitter, smashed one to Anderson, who tossed it over the head of Stafford at first, Hahn reaching second. Then Smith stuck over a fast low one and Shea let it go by and stood there like a dummy as the man on second rounded third and came in home. Shea made absolutely no attempt to get the ball, making a poor bluff to the umpire to the effect that the ball was foul.

In the seventh the hits and runs came. Beck went out to the infield, and Williams did the pop act, his pop falling safe behind the pitcher. Then Holly connected to right, sending Williams to third. Stratton and Dygert both sacrificed and both tosses to first by Smith, with Jordan covering the bag, resulted in errors. Both were charged to Smith, but Jordan looked from the grandstand just as much to blame for one, at least. Stanley lifted one to center field, where McCay let it go by and more runs resulted. Four runs had now been scored, Stanley scoring the fifth on a wild pitch. Nadeau flew out to center, and Hahn doubled. Rohe went out on a pop to second base.

CHIEF JOYNER AND DRUM CORPS

Hearty and Noisy Welcome Is Given Them at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., June 15.—The drum corps of the Atlanta fire department which came up with the Georgia delegation has been given a hearty and noisy welcome. Yesterday they were escorted through the business section by the First regiment band and the Kentucky Colonels, Louisville's newest marching organization. This afternoon they were guests at the ball park and tonight they gave a fancy drill in front of the fire department headquarters on Jefferson street.

At the conclusion of the drill the corps, headed by Captain Joyner, and accompanied by a very dignified and gaily caparisoned goat, marched through the crowded downtown streets and were loudly cheered. At least 2,000 people fell in line with the red-shirted boys of Atlanta and to the accompaniment of drums and cheers marched with them for some distance.

WEARY WOMAN HUNTING WORK

Mrs. Annie Russell Tells a Very Pitiful Story of Poverty.

A middle aged, well dressed woman walked into the police barracks last night at a quarter before 11 o'clock and asked for a place to sleep. She said she was Mrs. Annie Russell, and that she had walked herself weary trying to find work. The woman's story was a most pitiful one.

"Up to two weeks ago," she stated, "I was working for a family at 152 Hill street, and when my health began to fail I had to give up the position. Recently, I have been living with friends at West End, but they were poor and could not give me a home always. So I started out to find work. I answered all the advertisements I saw in the newspapers and asked nearly everybody I met to give me work, but nobody wanted me. I have spent my last cent and have no place to lay my head."

When asked if she had any relatives in the city, she replied:

"Not a soul to care for me. My husband, James C. Russell, left me five years ago and went to Scotland, and now I am alone in the world. All I want is work."

She was given a bed for the night in the female detention ward, and this morning the police matron will endeavor to get her a position where she can earn a living.

COTTON OPENED EASY AND LOWER

On Disappointing Cables and Beneficial Rains.

Later on Aggressive Bull Support Recorded One of the Most Noteworthy Advances of the Season, Closing 22 to 28 Points Up.

New York, June 15.—The cotton market was very active, and after some early irregularity ruled firm and excited, with prices on new crop months crowding the 9c mark. The opening was easy at a decline of 5@10 points in response to lower cables than expected and the generally favorable weather reported by the early map, but there was continued demand from the big buyers of yesterday and promptly rallied. During the balance of the session there was considerable excitement, with prices working up to new high levels with continued bull support and active covering. The close was a point or two off from the best under realizing, but firm at a net advance of 22@28 points. The buying seemed based upon the continued strength of southern spot markets, with private wires reporting June shorts good buyers at the advance, and in the afternoon the general confusion was increased by a statement from the recent bear leader predicting a whirlwind advance in prices. Sales estimated 650,000 bales. Liverpool will be closed on tomorrow and Sunday.

The New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, June 15.—Spot cotton continues in good demand and prices are higher, with very light offerings. Sales 1,700 bales, including 600 to arrive. Quotations advanced 1-4c.

Futures opened steady at a decline of 3@4 points on a disappointing Liverpool and a favorable weather map. Soon after the first call the old bull clique took charge of the ring and sent prices skyward, the market being active throughout the session. July opened 4 points down at 8.61, declined to 8.57, advanced to 8.98 and finally declined to 8.93. The fluctuations were numerous but narrow. The market closed firm with net gains of 22 to 28 points.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, June 15.—Buying in dry goods has not been large, and yet the market is in a firm condition with a hardening tendency in prices. Prophecies of higher quotations before long are freely made on acount of the healthy statistical position of the majority of lines.

New Orleans expects 1,400 to 2,000 bales, against 1,788 actual last year; Galveston 1,500 to 2,000, against 209 actual last year; Houston 2,000 to 2,500, against 147 actual last year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

COTTON—Liverpool was disappointing from the opening, and, although the closing was firm, it was generally understood that the improvement came from American buying orders just before the close. Here the opening showed the absence of any pressure, and, while lower, the trade expected a continuance of the buying of the past few days. In this, they were correct, as it is estimated that fully 40,000 bales have been brought for the same brokers. The purchases are estimated in all at 150,00 bales, representing the change from a short to a long position, due to the resistance which the market has made to all the efforts to cover at lower prices. Rumors of the effect of the investigation in Washington were current during the afternoon. It was noticeable that the general outside public was not disposed to follow the lead of this reversal of position. It regards the situation on the whole, as bullish, but is not disposed to follow at the moment after the large short interest has covered and gone long. The spot market was quiet at 15 points advance.

Ware & Leland.

COTTON—The market today enjoyed one of the most noteworthy advances of the season. After opening at 8.52 for October, the market began to advance and soon was in a boiling condition. The profit taking had been so heavy around 8½c that when larger buying orders were put in the market there was too little cotton for sale to prevent a very rapid rise. October ran to 8.83, the high point of the season, before there was any halt. It was a big, broad market with a lot of cotton sold on the rise. It was rumored that a prominent trader who sold out at 8c and went short had covered a large line of cotton and had gone long. This sort of trading is not profitable, and as the operator in question has been wrong on the market for several months, a large number of holders were inclined to sell out on the advance. The market has now gone up rapidly enough for the best traders to take profits. We would take profits on all bulges now for a while.

WHEAT—There was a strong opening on the crowd switching to the long side, due to rains in the northwest, with predictions for their continuance and colder weather, especially over the border, where snow prevailed. Crop reports from the winter wheat belt were of a conflicting nature, and just enough to make shorts nervous. The market turned strong late in the day on buying from the northwest, and with liberal news of rust it made shorts nervous enough to run to cover. The closing was strong, but considering that the last batch of crop news is rather sensational, we would favor the acceptance of profits on further advances that may extend far enough to justify short sales.

CORN—Commission house buying was excellent, and reports of cash corn being oered east at reduced prices, was bearishly regarded in addition to favorable weather. The price gathered strength sufficiently to induce short covering. On further advances we think profits on long corn should be accepted.

OATS—There was selling of September and buying of July by an Armour broker, prices weakening on bearish crop talk, but strength in corn and wheat was a bull help. We favor purchases of September on all dips.

PROVISIONS were dull, but at the same time were quite strong, the advance in corn starting shorts to cover. We look for a scalping market.

STOCKS—Dullness was again the chief characteristic of the market, with total sales amounting to but little over 130,000. Foreign markets were depressed and London houses sold about 10,000 shares of stock here. Our market was quiet and featureless at the opening. This being Suburban day the majority of the speculators did not come down town, and those who did discussed the great race. The floor of the exchange was deserted, and intervals of many minutes between transactions were frequent. Renewed activity by the Wisconsin Central pool caused a fair rise in these issues, but no following was attracted. The market closed quietly with fractional declines the rule in the active list. There is every indication that the market will continue dull for some time, but the next movement of consequence should be up.

Rogers-Fowler Co.

COTTON—Opening prices in the local cotton future market this morning were at a decline of 5 to 7 points. After the first round evidences of firmer tone showed plainly, and a general buying movement, led by the shorts, was commenced, which carried prices throughout the list up 20 to 30 points, without very much of a reaction. The buyers represented good interests, and it was asserted that they were increasing their lines in the expectation that the crop condition would continue rather unfavorable during the greater part of the growing season. The spot situation generally was firm. There was a good demand in the south, and the foreign advices suggested that the English and continental interests were satisfied to support the long side of the market. The trade, as a whole, today was not very active and no material broadening of operations was anticipated by the more important observers. We still feel favorable to the long side of cotton, and would advise buying on all moderate declines.

WHEAT—Crop conditions attracted considerable attention in the wheat pit today. While many crop experts favored predictions that there will be a total production of 700,000,000 bushels or more, there were private reports which suggested prevalence of fly in some sections. There were also reports telling of rust damage, but on the whole the deductions lead to the expectation that the quality of the grain will be quite satisfactory. The cash markets were slow today, and the professional element for the most part controlled the speculative situation. Outside business was light, and foreign advices were not effective in either direction.

The corn and oats markets were narrow with a professional trade. The corn crop news was construed in a rather bullish manner, especially since The Price Current intimated that a high condition could not be expected under any circumstances. It was stated, however, that the ondition could improve materially with climatic conditions from this time forth. The oats crop condition was regarded as very favorable. The cash markets continued slow and statistical positions were without feature. The export business was slow and the foreign reports were ineffective.

Provisions were steady and dull, with a dragging market under the control of local professionals.

WHEAT STRONG ON COLD WET WEATHER

Lower Prices at Liverpool Were Without Influence.

At the Close July Was Up 1 1-4 to 1 3-8c—Corn Closed 7-8c Up and Oats 3-8 to 1-2c Higher.

Chicago, June 15.—Cold, wet weather in the Canadian northwest was mainly responsible for a strong tone here today in the wheat market. At the close the July option was up 1 1-4@1 3-8c. Corn is up 3-4@7-8c, oats 3-8@1-2c and provisions 2 1-2@7 1-2c.

Notwithstanding the lower prices at Liverpool the wheat market here was strong the entire session. At the opening July was up 1-8@3-8c at 86 3-8@86 5-8c. From the start shorts were active buyers. The attention of traders today was directed mainly to the yet undertermined character of spring sown wheat. Weather in the Canadian northwest was discouraging to traders on the bear side of the market, freezing temperature being reported from some sections. Excessive moisture was also reported from some sections. Predicted eastward spread of similar conditions was a source of anxiety to shorts. In addition many reports were received emphasizing the probability of great damage to the spring wheat crop by rust. A partial corroboration of the bullish advices was found in an advance of over 2c in the price of wheat at Minneapolis. News from the southwest was of such conflicting character as to make shorts increasingly nervous. As the session advanced the demand from that source became more and more urgent. For July the highest point of the day was reached just before the close, the price touching 87 5-8c. Final quotations were at 87 1-2@87 5-8c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 32,500 bushels. Primary receipts were 4550,000 bushels compared with 478,700 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 179 cars, against 249 last week and 256 a year ago.

Influenced by lower prices at the interior and a more liberal movement in corn, the market was inclined to weakness early in the session. The strength of wheat, however, soon created an active demand from shorts. The market closed almost at the highest point. July opened a shade to 1-8c lower at 52@52 1-8c, sold up to 53c and closed at 52 7-8@53c. Receipts 275 cars, with 50 contract grade.

Strength of wheat and corn was the main factor in the oats market. Early in the session sentiment wa sa trifle bearish on excellent crop prospects, but a firm tone soon developed as a result of buying by a prominent elevator concern. July opened unchanged to a shade lower at 30 3-8@30 1-2c, sold up to 30 7-8c and closed at 30 7-8c. Receipts 135 cars.

Provisions were firm on an estimate of small receipts of hogs for tomorrow. Strength of grain had a bullish effect. Packers were the principal purchasers. At the close September pork was up 7 1-2c at $12.92 1-2. Lard was up 5@7 1-2c at $7.50. Ribs were up 2 1-2@5c at $7.70@7.72 1-2.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat 1 carn; corn 317 cars; oats 106 cars; hogs 20,000 head.

Music in Sapulpa.

(From The Sapulpa Light.)

In Sapulpa are several people who sing pretty well. Some better than others, and others worse than others. But it is a fact that we have a lot of singers in our city. Every night, nearly, you can hear the mellow notes of the dulcet music, as it is wafted to and fro in the gentle breeze. Sometimes it is mingled and intermingled with the braying of lonesome cows, distant howls of yellow dogs, and the merry croak of happy B. frogs. Still it sounds good, and we believe that with the aid of the town pump and a rattail file a chorus of many voices could be worked up in Sapulpa that would help do wonders for the town.

INJUNCTION IS DENIED ADAIR

Forrest Adair, individually and as executor of the estate of George W. Adair, deceased, and of Alice Wallace Mynatt, was yesterday denied injunction against the city of Atlanta and the Southern railroad, for which prayer was submitted some months ago and which during its pendency has been a matter of live interest to many outside those named in the papers.

Months ago the Southern Railway Company asked of the general council permission to close Nelson street bride while changes were being made in that section of the city. The granting of the petition meant the closing of Nelson street from Madison avenue to the western side, or to the western abutment of the Nelson street bridge during the days necessary to complete the work the railway company contemplated. While the question was pending before the city council it developed that something like nine months would be required to complete the work.

Declaring that the closing of the street was not necessary to accomplish the changes desired and asserting that the changes could be acomplished without that closing, but at no time objecting to the contemplated changes, Forrest Adair, for himself and for others, asked for an injunction.

Argument in abundance had been had, before Judge Lumpkin until recently of the Fulton superior court, and before Judge Pendleton, his successor, on the motion for injunction.

MARKET DESERTED FOR THE RACES

Sales of Stocks Reached New Low Record for Year.

Market Was Practically Barren of Incident, and Movement of Prices Scarcely Perceptible—Business Was at a Low Ebb Throughout.

New York, June 15.—Sales of stocks on the stock exchange today fell to a new low record for the year, reaching only 133,400 shares. Business was at a low ebb throughout, and late in the day interest in the market was practically abandoned in favor of the day's racing event, which attracted a large attendance of stock exchange membership. The market was practically barren of incident, and the movement of prices scarcely perceptible, except for the inevitable sagging tendency due to inanation. It is male subject of remark, however, that in spite of the paralysis of demand for stocks, prices do not lose ground for the longer comparisons. There was no important development in affairs today, but such incidents as occurred were not helpful to values. The few wide changes were in stocks for which a narrow market exists at any time, and for which either bids or offers are found at this time only by wide variations from nominal current quotations. With the aggravation of the dullness renewed complaints were heard of the burden of the stock transfer tax. Baltimore and Ohio's good showing of May net earnings was without effect. The market closed inert.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,000,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call easy at 2 1-4@2 1-2, closing bid at 2 1-4; offered at 2 1-2; time money 60 days 3 per cent; 90 days 3 1-4; six months 3 1-2; prime mercantile paper 3 1-2@4 per cent.

Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87@4.87.05 for demand and at $4.85.10@4.85.15 for 60 day bills; posted rates $4.86@4.88; commercial bills $4.84 7-8.

Bar silver 58 3-4c.

Mexican dollars 45 1-2c.

Government bonds steady.

Southern Exchange.

COTTON—Liverpool cables hardly reflected our market of yesterday, which was the result of a slightly lower opening here this morning, but would not sustain it, due to more active trading and efforts to secure contracts, and short covering by some large interests who appear to be shifting their positions. Spot markets and export demand continue heavy. The weather map was called favorable, being clear except for thunder storms and light rainfalls, but temperatures throughout the belt range very high with maximum of 99 and very few districts under 90. These temperatures are too high, and if continued will work serious injury to the plant. For the time being, clear weather will enable planters to clean the crop of weeds and grass, and thus reduce the chances of insect damage. The scarcity of spot cotton for spinners is one of the features at this time worthy of mention, and no doubt has had a favorable effet on prices. Conservatism suggests that we consider a reaction from present prices a more natural outcome, and while the range of prices for the future is likely to be higher, traders should endeavor to be in a position to take advantage of any short recessions.

Five Lots on Brandon Street

We recently made a subdivision of the Roan, Rosser and Brandon property in the Third Ward, in which were some fine lots on Brandon Street, 40x115 to a 10-foot alley—just the right size for a double 6-room house.

A large number of such houses have been built in the subdivision, they rent as soon as finished at $7.00 a side, or $14.00 a month.

We have five lots left in a bunch, at $300 apiece; the houses cost $750 each. This makes a total investment of $5,250 for the five, with the rental of $70.00 a month.

There is no guess work about this calculation, you can see the actual houses on similar lots and satisfy yourself. We would like to close out these five lots today. The investment would be one hard to duplicate. Easy terms if desired.

COURT ASSAILED BY IRATE WOMAN

Both Lawyer and Client Move on Justice Ormond.

Seldom before has the court room of Justice Walter Ormond been the scene of so much turmoil and the place of so many word battles as yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Mary Yancey was arraigned on the charge of criminal trespass.

The charge was brought by John Owens. Mrs. Yancey is the owner of a piece of property at 292 Decatur street and Mr. Owens owns the adjoining lot. A few weeks ago Mrs. Yancey, claiming that part of Mr. Owens' property belonged to her, she moved her fence 2 feet forward on the property belonging to Mr. Owens. Of course Mr. Owens did not like the idea of having his property taken from him without knowing the reason why, so not long after he discovered what had happened he engaged an attorney, who brought charges against Mrs. Yancey in the court of Judge Walter Ormond. The case was called yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It was while Attorney Will Thompson was arguing the case for the prosecution that the silent spectators were surprised by seeing Mrs. Yancey suddenly jump from her seat and rush over to where Mr. Thompson was standing and shake her finger in his face as she exclaimed:

"You are a low down villain and a dirty scamp. Here you little lawyers are trying to rob a poor woman of her rights. That 2 feet of land is mine and no little old lawyer and no insignificant justice of the peace has the right to say it is not, if this little justice of the peace says it is not mine I will appeal to President Roosevelt or King Edward, of England."

Carl Thompson, Mrs. Yancey's attorney, fearing that Judge Ormond might fine her for contempt of court, tried to quiet her, but his efforts proved futile.

"No living man in this world can prevent me from speaking for my rights," said she, "I am a daughter of the Revolution, and superior to jack leg lawyers and justices of the peace."

At this point, Judge Ormond rapped for order, and informed Mrs. Yancey that she must quiet herself, else he would have to force her to do so. It was fully fifteen minutes before the court could proceed with its business, so furious was Mrs. Yancey.

After hearing both sides, Judge Ormond decided that Mrs. Yancey was in the wrong, and bound her over to the city criminal court, for criminal trespass, on a $100 bound.

After the adjournment of the court, it looked for a while as if a difficulty could not be prevented between Attorney Carl Thompson and Judge Ormond. Judge Ormond had just steped down from the bench, when Attorney Thompson, who is a partner of William S. Howard, walked up to Judge Ormond and shook his first in his face. "Ormond," said he, "you have not acted fair in this case. I believe it was all a put up job, and if you don't like it, I can whip you the same as I can whip any other justice of the peace." Judge Ormond was preparing to go into Thompson with both fists, when Mrs. Yancey jumped between him and her attorney. Mrs. Yancey declares she will appeal her case to the supreme court of the United States, if necessary.
